Unified Strategy Agreed

Foreign Ministers Of West Decide Position on Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany agreed today on a unified strategy for negotiations with the Soviet Union on Berlin problems at the May summit conference in Paris.

A joint announcement said the ministers were "in agreement on the Western position on Germany including Berlin."

This indicated that in their Washington pre-summit talks Western policy makers had bridged their differences enough to enter the Paris conference with a united front.

The extreme differences are between Western Germany which would prefer no summit negotiation at all on Berlin and Britain which would be willing to make adjustments in the Western position in Berlin to avoid any new crisis with the Soviet Union.

The announcement gave no details as to the German-Berlin plan agreed to by the Western powers. The diplomats wanted to inform NATO Allies about their plans first.

It was understood, however, that the foreign ministers agreed that the question of Berlin should be considered within the context of the German problem as a whole. This has been the traditional Western position.

Tuesday, at the first session in their three days of summit preparatory talks, the Western foreign ministers cautioned Moscow against any use of force or one-sided action against Berlin.

They also reported agreed that disarmament should be the first item up for summit discussion. No opposition was heard to Eisenhower's idea for cozy meetings of just the government heads and their interpreters, in addition to the bigger summit sessions.

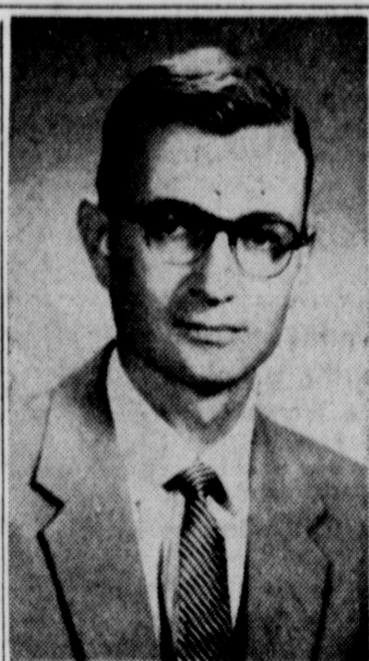

The two-hour meeting of Herter, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville was devoted largely to procedural matters of this sort.

The three ministers did issue a statement promising that their leaders will go to Paris in a "constructive spirit."

They also "emphasized the need to solve outstanding problems by negotiations and not by force or unilateral action," and "expressed the desire of their governments to negotiate reasonable solutions to these problems in the interests of world peace."

West Germany's foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano, was invited to sit in on this morning's session on Germany-Berlin.

Herter was reported agreed with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that the West should not begin summit talk about Berlin with its previously offered concessions to limit Western arms and propaganda there.

New Officers For Breakfast Optimist Club

Allgaier Elected As New President At Tuesday Meet

Albert Allgaier, 1214 Liberty Park, was elected president of the local Breakfast Optimist Club Tuesday evening at a meeting of that organization at the Pacific Cafe. Allgaier has been secretary of the organization for the past few months, filling a vacancy left by Jack Tindle, who moved to Sweet Springs. He is employed at Homakers Furniture Co.

Other officers elected for the coming year are Vice-presidents Conrad Knight and Dr. Vernon Goodnight. Directors elected are Wally McCowan, Salty Shoemaker, Doyle Fumell and Jim Askren. Gerald Cecil has been appointed secretary-treasurer by the newly-elected president.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Donald Proctor, president. Jim Askren gave the invocation. Group singing was led by Gerald Cecil, with Miss Lillian Fox as accompanist.

The program was a discussion on the plans for the Adams & Sells three ring circus which is being sponsored by the Breakfast Club, the proceeds from which will be used by the club for their boys work, a good portion of which will go for the Babe Ruth team which the club is sponsoring.

Members of the club are selling the tickets and the club will get a large percentage of the advanced sales tickets which will be sold for less than at the show.

This circus, Cliff Barr, general chairman, pointed out, is a genuine old-fashioned family show, with 24 acts, which include jugglers, tumblers, clowns, astounding aerial acts, dogs, ponies, horses, monkeys and "Little Bertha," the performing elephant.

Also discussed was the car wash on Saturday at the D-X station on South Highway 65, where the Explorer Scout troop sponsored by the Optimists will work, being allowed to keep the profits of the day on their job by Salty Shoemaker. The money from the car wash will be used toward the trip by the Explorer post to West Point.

May Attempt To Continue Space Race

Strategic Bombers Will Remain in Use For Nuclear Role

LONDON (AP)—Britain is abandoning her program to build fixed-site rockets capable of delivering nuclear weapons to an aggressor's soil.

Defense Minister Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons today the military is discontinuing development of the Blue Streak, a 2,500-mile-range missile which so far has cost 182 million dollars. Watkinson said the money thus far invested in Blue Streak will not be wasted "if it is decided to go ahead with (it) as a launcher for a space satellite."

Watkinson made clear that Britain's strategic bomber force will remain effective for several years as the vehicle for possible delivery of nuclear weapons.

The complete cost of the original missile program of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government would have been between $1,400,000,000 and $1,680,000,000, he said.

Authoritative sources said this country also hopes, wherever possible, to pool its research, development and productive resources with other North Atlantic Allied powers in manufacturing 2,500-mile-range rockets.

The main reasons are advanced by officials for the switch in defense policy:

The costs of the missile program are simply beyond the nation's capacity.

The program had been largely based on the production of fixed-site rockets which have been outdated by scientific developments. In particular, Britons consider that the Soviets recent firing of rockets into the Pacific exposed the vulnerability of fixed-site missile bases. The Soviets claimed to have hit less than 1 1/4 miles from their target over a range of 6,500 nautical miles.

Beyond the mid-1960s, when manned bombers are likely to be outdated, any British nuclear weapons would have to be delivered in a major war only in vehicles bought from the United States or jointly produced with other Allies.

Macmillan is understood to have discussed with President Eisenhower recently prospects of buying new American H-weapons vehicles as they are delivered. The British for some time have been eyeing the submarine-borne Polaris and the airborne Skybolt, which still is in the blueprint stage.

The series of "Meditations for Lent" is concluded today with a dynamic message from the Rev. Edwin T. Dahlberg, D. D. The final article, the subject of which is "The Church, the Cross and the Public Conscience," appears on today's Editorial page.

COUNTY HEALTH MEETING—More than 100 Pettis Countyans attended the meeting on public health held Monday night at the REA Building on North Highway 65. The meeting was sponsored by the Pettis County Court and the Health Advisory Committee. The purpose was to determine the public reaction to the county health services, which were re-initiated about one year ago with the appointment of Mrs. Gertrude Berlin as county health nurse. As the above photo shows, the public reaction was highly favorable. Mrs. Berlin pointed out the function of the office and progress during the year. Pettis County Rep. Milton Overstreet explained the operation from a legislative viewpoint. Other speakers and persons introduced included Dr. John P. Wells from the district health office in Jefferson City; Mrs. Bettye Murrell, Sedalia public school nurse; Mrs. Bettye Blackwell office secretary; Dr. C. W. Meinershagen of the state division of health; Stephen Jones health educator; and the three Pettis County judges C. Berry Elliott, C. M. Purchase and E. L. Birdsong.

Hurt Presides First Time

Money Matters Made Official By Reorganized School Board

Charles W. (Bud) Hurt, newly-elected president of the Sedalia Board of Education, presided over his first board meeting at Smith-Cotton High School Tuesday night. The first official act of the board, reorganized after the city election last Tuesday, was to burn 42 paid-up bonds of $1,000 each. These bonds were issued along with others in the 1946 school bond issue. There will be about five more annual bond-burning ceremonies, then the 1956 issue will be paid off.

In another action concerning bonds, the board made the proposed May 3 special school bond election official. The proposal will call for the approval of an issue of $1,665,000 for the improvement of the Sedalia public school plant. The Hurlbut Printing Co. will print the election supplies.

Voting places will be at Mark Twain School, Horace Mann

School, Whittier School and Washington School. The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. It was agreed to pay the election judges and clerks $10 per day. Registration is not required for special elections.

Money matters took up a great deal of the time. The school budget for the school year 1960-1961 was presented by Superintendent Thomas J. Norris. Mrs. Mary Studer made a motion for acceptance and the motion was seconded by Forrest Benner. The vote of approval was unanimous.

The recommended expenditures totaled $1,376,140, a little more than the anticipated receipts, which will bring the balance on hand down a little at the end of the year. The recapitulation of all budgetary items is as follows:

Anticipated balance as of July 1, 1960, $319,700. Anticipated receipts, $1,361,670. Total receipts and balances, $1,681,370. Recommended expenditures, $1,376,140. Anticipated balance as of July 1, 1961, $305,230.

Norris pointed out that state receipts have been estimated at $349,000. This includes the regular apportionment, tuition and partial reimbursement for salaries paid the speech correctionist, special remedial teachers and vocational coordinator.

The budget anticipates the receipt of $668,940 from local taxes. This is the equivalent of 100 per cent tax collection of the tax levy of $2.47 on an assessed valuation of $27-million. The valuation, Norris pointed out, will be somewhat greater than $27-million, but there is never a 100 per cent collection of all taxes.

The budget was presented and approved in a 33-page detailed pamphlet which may be examined on request. It is a general picture of estimated receipts and anticipated expenditures, and not a "hard and fast" plan that cannot be changed, Norris said.

"As a general policy," Norris said, "I am more concerned with the estimated balances at the end of the school year than the actual expenditures for any particular item during the year. In other words, the total budget is much more important than any individual item included in it."

In other action the board agreed to approach Mrs. Ernest Jones, Mrs. Eugene Miller, Mrs. Anna Berger, Mrs. Ida Harriman and Mrs. Margaret Yoder with the intent to employ them as enumerators to take the annual school enumeration in late April and early May.

Edward Kehde and Charles (Davey) Jones were named to the insurance committee and Robert Johnson, Mrs. Mary Studer, Forrest Benner were named to the buildings committee.

The revised rules and regulations booklet for the Board of Education was approved and it was agreed to send the booklet to the printer. It was also agreed to permit the use of rubber signature stamps of the president and secretary on all personnel contracts. Building and other contracts will require regular signatures.

There will be no summer school this year. One visitor asked about summer school, and Norris pointed out that it is against state law. If summer school is conducted, it was pointed out, all eligible school children would be authorized to attend, and also expenses would be borne by the board of education. This is impossible without additional taxation, Norris said.

Teachers Re-Hired

Board of Education Accepts Resignations of Teachers

The Sedalia Board of Education at its regular meeting at Smith-Cotton High School Tuesday night accepted the resignation of seven teachers, and approved the re-employment of 236 others for the 1960-1961 school year.

The action was taken during an executive session of the board, held after the regular business was conducted. The executive session is a normal practice of the board, when personalities are to be discussed.

The board did not hire any new teachers. This action will come later in the school year, when the exact needs for the coming year are determined, and after suitable applicants have been obtained.

John Shoemaker, part-time custodian at Mark Twain, resigned, effective March 14.

Barbara Grady, 1413 South Montauk, first-year mathematics teacher at Smith-Cotton, has resigned, effective at the end of the current year, to accept a scholarship for her graduate work in mathematics at the University of Michigan. She received the scholarship from the National Science Foundation.

Ben Moore, now on leave of absence, and Ruth Moore, on leave of absence to take advantage of a scholarship to study math at Washington University in St. Louis, both resigned. Mrs. Moore taught math at Smith-Cotton, and Mr. Moore taught industrial arts. He left Sedalia in order to be with his wife. He is now teaching in the St. Louis area.

Kennedy Slams Ike's Economic Lethargy

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Soviet Union's economy is expanding seven times as fast as the United States' yet the Eisenhower administration does nothing about it, claims Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The Democratic presidential candidate from Massachusetts told the Operating Engineers Union Tuesday that the next chief executive will face more problems and more difficult decisions than any of the past 10 years.

The Eisenhower administration's chief function has been administering programs initiated by Democratic presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, Kennedy said.

Meanwhile "the nation's housing steadily deteriorates, large city populations live in slums, and women laundry workers in the South work for 65 cents an hour," said Kennedy.

Kennedy said the U.S. economy is growing at the rate of 1 1/2 per cent a year compared with 10 to 12 per cent in the Soviet Union. AFL-CIO President George Meany warned against getting an impression that "everything is roses. There are five million unemployed."

New Satellite Is Successful

Transit 1B Is Forerunner Of Navigational System

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The forerunner of a U.S. satellite navigation system planned to give sailors and airmen a good position fix any time in any weather was hurled successfully into orbit around the earth today.

The experimental space navigator, named Transit 1B, was rocketed aloft from this missile test center just after dawn in a test with important bearing on long range missile operations.

It was a Navy project with Air Force rocketry help. The sponsorship underscored its special application to the Polaris missile-firing submarine whose officers will have to know their own position precisely to aim at a target hundreds of miles away.

The information from Transit 1B and its successors, however, is to be given to all nations.

Some four hours after the satellite went up Navy and civilian scientists said in Washington that it was in a path a little less than 400 miles up, with an orbit time of about 94 minutes, at an inclination of 51 degrees with respect to the Equator. They had been shooting at a height of 400-500 miles and an angle of 50 degrees.

On the basis of preliminary tracking, scientists said Transit 1B was in an orbit reasonably circular. The nearer they come to a perfect circle with such a device the closer the navigational fix that can be made.

At a Washington news conference, Dr. R. B. Kershner, of the Applied Physics Laboratory of Johns Hopkins University, which developed the device, said the trial satellite itself could provide a ship with a position report with no more than a half-mile error. Later, the fully operational program, using four satellites, can give a ship anywhere in the world a fix within a quarter of a mile.

Either distance is comparable to the results of present celestial and radio navigation—and will be available regardless of weather.

The first test using a ship will be made "very soon," Kershner said.

The complete system could be put into operation by 1962, he predicted.

The 265-pound spherical payload was hoisted on the nose of a giant Thor-Able-Star rocket combination at 7:03 a.m.

After explaining technical details of how the system works, Kershner summed it up by saying that "a satellite goes by and a machine puts out the information on the latitude and longitude" of the ship or aircraft, using special receiving and computing equipment.

In answer to a question, scientists and Navy officials estimated that the cost of running the computers, trackers and other equipment might be about four million dollars a year. In addition, an average of one satellite will have to be replaced each year at a cost of about one million dollars.

Expanding the advantages of the satellite system, Navy officials said ships and planes are not always in reach of radio navigation systems to locate themselves by means of direction finders—and clouds can hide the stars for days to block celestial navigation.

With four satellites in orbit, a ship or plane could obtain a precise position report about every 1 1/2 hours, Kershner said.

The launching of transit 1B looked good from the start.

18-Year-Old Desperado Is Captured

30-Hour Siege Ends in Virginia; Girl Held, Unhurt

PULASKI, Va. (AP) — The 30-hour stand of a teen-age desperado, who swore he'd "go out in a blaze of glory in a tie and white shirt with blood on it," ended Tuesday night. Police dragged him shrieking from the home where he had held his young sister-in-law hostage.

The plucky 10-year-old girl, unharmed, said afterwards, "I wasn't scared."

A barrage of tear gas shells flushed Harless Hardin "Jackie" Jennings from the trim brick bungalow of his in-laws at 10:30 p.m. after a day that saw the siege range from terrifying to almost ridiculous.

Jennings came out firing wildly but ineffectually with a shotgun, pushing Barbara Butts out the door ahead of him.

"Duck, Barbara!" officers called an instant before they snatched her aside. Then Jennings, an 18-year-old unemployed mill hand, was overpowered, knocked down and pulled screaming down the walk to a state police car that whisked him to a mental hospital at Marion about 50 miles away.

Barbara, examined at a local hospital, showed no signs of injuries and seemed untroubled by her ordeal that began at 4:15 p.m. Monday.

That was when Jennings, who police said had served time in industrial schools in Virginia and Maryland, grabbed her after escaping from police as he was being taken to jail for unauthorized use of his father-in-law's car.

Barbara said she had not been terrorized. "Jackie never hurt me."

Her eyes were red and puffy, although "I shut my eyes tight" when the tear gas was lobbed into her parents' home. She said Jennings gave her plenty to eat, mostly hot dogs and toasted cheese sandwiches.

The long siege reached a climax after Jennings balked at a second offer of psychiatric treatment made by a mental hospital director and a radio newsmen.

Dr. Charles A. Zeller and Ray Carnay of Dallas, Tex., made a last try at negotiations after 50 officers finished preparations for the final attack. Jennings was unmoved.

Toward the house went Blaine Huff, a motor vehicles inspector who is a relative of the youth. As he walked, he spoke to Jennings in a calm, slow voice:

"Will you talk to me, Jackie?" he asked. "I'll shine a light so come up to the window. Jackie, I'm beside the porch, you watch that shotgun. These people have put up with you a long time so break this up before somebody gets hurt."

Huff asked if Jennings had the gun in his hand. Jennings said yes. "Then put the barrel out the window. You're not going to plug me, are you?"

"No, no," came the reply. Police opened up with tear gas shells.

"Why not come in and get me," yelled the youth. "Hey cops, come and get me."

Masonic Temple Plans Are Changed Monday

The new Masonic Temple will be built at the southwest corner of Broadway and Missouri, instead of the planned location at Seventh and Osage. A special Association meeting of the Masonic bodies was held Sunday afternoon at which time the decision was made and the contract was signed Monday.

The new location will have a half block frontage on Broadway and a block deep on Missouri providing plenty of parking space.

Moose Lodge Will Provide Rides to Church

Don't miss Easter Sunday church services because you have no way to go, for the Moose Lodge will provide the way through their car-lift program on that day.

Anyone wanting to go to the church of their faith on Easter may call the Moose Lodge, TA 6-9629, give the name, address, the number of people who want to go, the name of the church, the time of the service they want to attend, their telephone number, if they have one, and about what time they will be ready to come home after the service.

If there is any special physical condition that should be listed, too, so that the arrangements can be made accordingly.

This is a project of the Moose clubs and the Sedalia club has done this on other Easter Sundays but not on such a large scale as they plan this year.

The members of the Moose Lodge would be glad to have anyone who does not have a way to go to church to contact them and they will see that the transportation is furnished.

Farm Owners Grateful

Recreation Area Equipment to Prison

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The trusted convicts in Missouri Penitentiary's "L" Hall soon will have new recreation equipment, an expression of the gratitude of farm owners in the Sandy Hook area. The farmers were themselves out in a 70-hour battle against rising flood waters of the Missouri River. By last week some of them could hardly lift another sandbag to bolster their flood levee.

They asked Gov. James T. Blair for help. He notified Warden E.V. Nash and the corrections director, Col. James D. Carter.

Several details of prisoners were sent from "L" Hall the dormitory outside the prison walls for inmates who have shown they can be trusted with special jobs.

For every 20 to 25 convicts there was one guard who carried no weapon. The farmers were concerned for a bit. They didn't know whether the men would work or run or cause trouble.

But the convicts pitched in. The levee was saved and thousands of acres of rich bottomland about 20 miles upriver from Jefferson City were protected from the rampaging river.

The convicts brought their own sandwiches out the farm owners got hot food to the men, too, and provided them with cigarettes. Then some of the owners figured they should do more to show their gratitude. The recreation equipment was settled on as the most usable gift.

Convicts also worked in the McBaine and Hartsburg areas upriver, in the Cedar City-Renz Prison Farm and Wainwright areas near this capital city.

They saved thousands of acres and much property there, too. Some 800 prisoners took part in the battle against the floods.

Not one convict caused trouble and that pleased state officials. Carter said it was evidence trusted prisoners could be used to perform many emergency jobs. He mentioned the effort two years ago to put a group of convicts to work in Lake Ozarks State Park during the winter months.

Steals Hearts Of Optimists

A small black-haired boy, Tommy Racunas, third grade pupil in Sacred Heart School, stole the hearts of members of the Optimist Club Tuesday noon, at Bothwell Hotel, with his ventriloquist act and his dummy, "Jerry Mahoney." Tommy, who makes up his own script, won third place recently in the talent contest at Sacred Heart School.

The entire program of the Optimist Club meeting was presented by young people of Sacred Heart School, by the five first place winners out of 35 of the recent talent show at that school.

Catherine Mehl, as master of ceremonies, introduced the acts, the first of which was Nancy Downs, sixth grade, an unusually pretty and talented little girl, who played a piano solo, "Curious Story," which won her first place in the talent contest.

Paul White, sixth grade pupil, played "The Sharp Shooters March," which won him fourth place in the contest. Paul plays the accordion with skill.

The fifth place winner, lovely Sally Archias, a sophomore, played a difficult number, the Opening Theme from Grieg's Piano Concerto.

The program closed with the Senior Girls Sextet, second place winners in the contest, singing three numbers, "The Ash Grove," "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes" and Jack Crawford's Centennial winning song, "Take Off Your Hats to Sedalia." The members of the sextet whose good voices blend well together are Mary Pat Bishop, Susan Bopp, Beth Staley, Cathy Mehl, Judy Fitzgerald and Shirley Goss.

The program was presented by Dr. Donald Kirby, program chairman.

The meeting was presided over by Bob Lindstrom, president.

Invocation was by the Rev. John J. Hansen. Group singing was led by Charles Hanna, with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

Guests introduced were Ira DeJarnette, a former member of the club, Mrs. Frank Mehl, and Jack Faber, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Hound Dogs Fired In Record Nonstop Flight By B-52G

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., (AP)—A B-52G jet bomber flew 10,800 miles nonstop to the North Pole and back as a prelude to launching a Hound Dog missile Tuesday.

The missile was fired from under a wing of the eight-jet bomber over the Atlantic test range from Cape Canaveral, Fla. It streaked several hundred miles downrange and landed in the Atlantic.

The 22-hour plane trip was described as the longest flight made by a bomber carrying the air-to-ground missile.

The plane took off from Eglin shortly after noon Monday and reached the North Pole shortly before midnight. The six-man crew made extensive tests of the bomber and missile guidance systems in temperatures as low as 75 degrees below zero while flying over the polar ice cap.

The plane was refueled over the polar cap and again over Lake Superior on its return flight.

This Crop of Collegiates Is Better Than His Group

By HAL BOYLE
CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—It's about harvest time in the meadows of learning.

America's greatest spring crop—its college graduating classes—is matured and ready to seek its own place in the golden granary of time. The 1960 crop looks like a record one in terms of both quantity and quality.

Critics of our younger generation might feel better about our nation's future if they would take the trouble right now to go and see how these "hopes of tomorrow" really measure up.

I did just that the other day during a visit here to the University of North Carolina, which has won over the years an enlarging recognition as one of the great pastures of the mind and spirit.

Chapel Hill has always had a tradition of relaxed freedom and wide culture, and the late Thomas Wolfe was only one of many creative minds that have found inspiration here.

For any middle-aged man his return to a college campus is always a kind of journey into Australia. But it can teach him a few things too.

The campus at Chapel Hill is beautiful. The walks are shaded by trees so old they are like

Final Program Of Series Given Sunday Evening at Bunceton

The final program of the Fellowship Evangelism series this Lenten Season was presented Sunday evening at the Bunceton Federated Church.

A pot luck supper was served at 6:30 p.m. followed by a panel discussion by a group of four laymen from churches in the surrounding communities who shared their ideas of "What the Church Means To Me." On the panel were: E. H. Robinson, Booneville Dodge Dealer; Robert Beitzel, McGraw Electric Company; Dr. Hug, Tipton Chiropractor; and Pete Muntzel, Bellaine.

Following the panel discussion, comments were made by group members.

Mrs. J. O. Younger Elected Nelson Mayor

The Nelson City election was held Tuesday, April 5, with the following being elected: Mrs. J. O. Younger, mayor; R. L. Stroup, city marshal; Mrs. A. L. Bryan, city collector; Billy Gene Walker, first ward alderman; and Albert Bryan, second ward alderman.

The judges for the West side were W. E. Beeler, Walker Caton, and Mrs. C. G. Mayfield and they voted at Fowler's Store. The East side judges were Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Smith and Mrs. Lee Bush. The voting was at the school gym.

The school tax levy passed with a good margin.

shrines in leaf. The buildings, a mixture of many architectures, blend in a friendly weathered warmth.

But on this walk upon this day it was the students, not the mellow atmosphere of the campus, that kindled in me a reverie of comparison.

One does not like to be unfair to his own youth, but on the other hand it is not wise ever to get the idea that all that was best in the world died with it.

Looking around at the students I passed, pausing now and then to listen to them, I had the feeling they were superior to the college students of my own generation.

It wasn't only that they had more height and perhaps more health. They had an air of easy assurance and self-confidence visible even to an outsider.

In my depression-haunted generation the fear of being unable to find a job after graduation often made the last two years in college miserable. We hated to leave alma mater because we feared the world had no place for us. At one bull session I can recall a group of seniors deciding that if they could sign up right then for a guaranteed income of $200 a month for life they would be glad to do so.

These students here would strike no such frightened bargain. They are not fearful! They are hopeful, and they believe in themselves. Many educators defend this college generation as perhaps the best in our history, and I am inclined to go along with this view rather than with those doom-generators who hold we have raised a generation of spoiled milkshops.

Returning from my stroll I had no desire to relive my own college days. One time of youth is enough for me.

I felt no tinge of envy for these young men and women. But I did feel that the world they so soon will set forth to better will fare no worse at their hands than it has at ours.

Reserve Contracts Take Effect April 15

Chairman C. A. Staples of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has issued a final reminder to farmers who have signed Conservation Reserve contracts beginning in 1960 that those contracts take effect April 15 in most cases.

Where a conservation practice is started on the designated land before April 15, Staples said, the contract takes effect when the conservation use begins. After the contract period starts, the farmer is obligated not to use his Conservation Reserve tract for grazing livestock and not to harvest a crop from it. He must also comply with any acreage allotments on the farm and observe his Soil Bank permitted acreage.

Prevent Many Falls

Throw Rug Can Be Hazard, Keep It Anchored Firmly

Have you heard? Mrs. Smith slipped on a throw rug and broke her hip! She was in the hospital seven months and totally disabled for a whole year. Her medical bills amounted to $2935. Of course, this name is fictitious but the story is true. In fact, with minor changes this story is repeated many times each day in homes of this country.

Falls are costly. In fact, half of the people who die from home accidents each year die because they fall. Five out of six who die from falls are 65 years or older. Falls happen for many reasons, but throw rugs are one of the chief causes of falls in the home. All falls caused by throw rugs can be prevented. What have you done to remove the throw rug hazard from your home? You can do things to both rugs and floors which will prevent falls.

First, the rug problem! A throw rug at the top of stairs is courting an accident or even death. Never use a rug at the top of stairs unless it is firmly anchored. Of course, a throw rug should be anchored any place it is used.

There are several ways to anchor a throw rug. The best way is with a thin rubber underlay pad. You can buy this underlay for $1.25 to $2.50 for each rug depending on rug size. I can't think of better insurance against an accident.

Your local furniture dealer probably carries this rubber underlay for use under throw rugs. If not would you like to get him to order it and help him sell it to your friends? Or, you can always buy it from one of the mail order catalogues. To use this underlay simply put it on the floor and spread the rug on top of it. The underlay should be about one or two inches smaller all around than the rug. The rug is not fastened down and can be used with either side up if you wish. The underlay will last for years. There are cheaper rubber coated paper under-lays but they usually lose their effectiveness in a year or two.

You can also make a rug non-slip by painting the back with a rubber coating. A 75 cent bottle will cover two small or one large scatter rug. Of course you can use this rubber coating only on a rug that has a right and wrong side.

There is also a non-slip powder which you can sprinkle on the floor under a rug. Your furniture dealer may have one of these powders. You must put this powder on the floor each time you clean but it does anchor rugs firmly.

Now, for the floor problem. Most homemakers like a shiny floor. Wax on floors can be a hazard. There is a slip-resistant wax.

However, any wax is less slippery if you put it on right. Use paste wax only when you can polish it with an electric polisher. If you use self-polishing wax, strip off the old wax and start new two or three times a year.

Falls on scatter rugs are no circus and it's a wise homemaker who does all she can to keep a throw rug from throwing a visitor or a member of her family.

Lutheran Churches Plan Choir Practice

St. Paul's Lutheran Church and Our Savior Lutheran Church will hold a joint choir rehearsal at 9 p.m. Thursday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Gov. Stratton Renominated For 3rd Term

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton clinched nomination for a third term today, and Otto Kerner won the right to try to oust him in the November election.

Stratton is the state's No. 1 Republican leader while Kerner has the backing of the top Democratic chieftain, Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

The post-midnight count of unofficial returns from Tuesday's Illinois primary also showed that:

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, only entrant in the presidential preference feature, drew a complimentary vote that exceeded his 341,463 total in the April 5 Wisconsin primary. But it fell far short of the 781,710 rolled up by President Eisenhower in the Illinois primary in 1956.

Democrats outpolled Republicans in a relatively light vote of about 1,600,000.

Samuel Witwer, Chicago lawyer who was supported by Stratton and most GOP organizations, led the six-man race for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator in a close contest.

Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas was nominated for a third term without opposition. In incomplete returns he gathered more votes than Nixon.

Stratton earned the chance to become the first Illinois governor to be elected to three terms in a row by defeating State Sen. Hayes Robertson.

Returns from 7,904 of the state's 9,980 precincts gave Stratton 332,425 and Robertson 237,898.

Kerner, former Cook County judge, swamped State Treasurer Joseph D. Lohman and Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, in their party's gubernatorial test.

Returns from 7,256 precincts gave Kerner 498,781, Lohman 163,191 and Mitchell 126,983.

Walking All Over U.S.

Cross-Country Hike Begun By Two British Sergeants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The British are walking all over the United States.

Two snappy-striding sergeants started it Tuesday, on a 3,032-mile hike from San Francisco to New York.

Today Dr. Barbara Moore, 56, the Russian-born wife of a British sculptor, follows 'em down the pike, or rather up U.S. 40.

"And I'll pass them, too," she says.

The reporters and photographers who met Dr. Moore at San Francisco airport Tuesday night had few doubts the sturdy vegetarian would do it.

She was wearing a bright red wool suit and a red kerchief when she got off her plane.

"I want people to be able to recognize me," she explained.

She put on her black sweatshirt and red leather jacket for photographers.

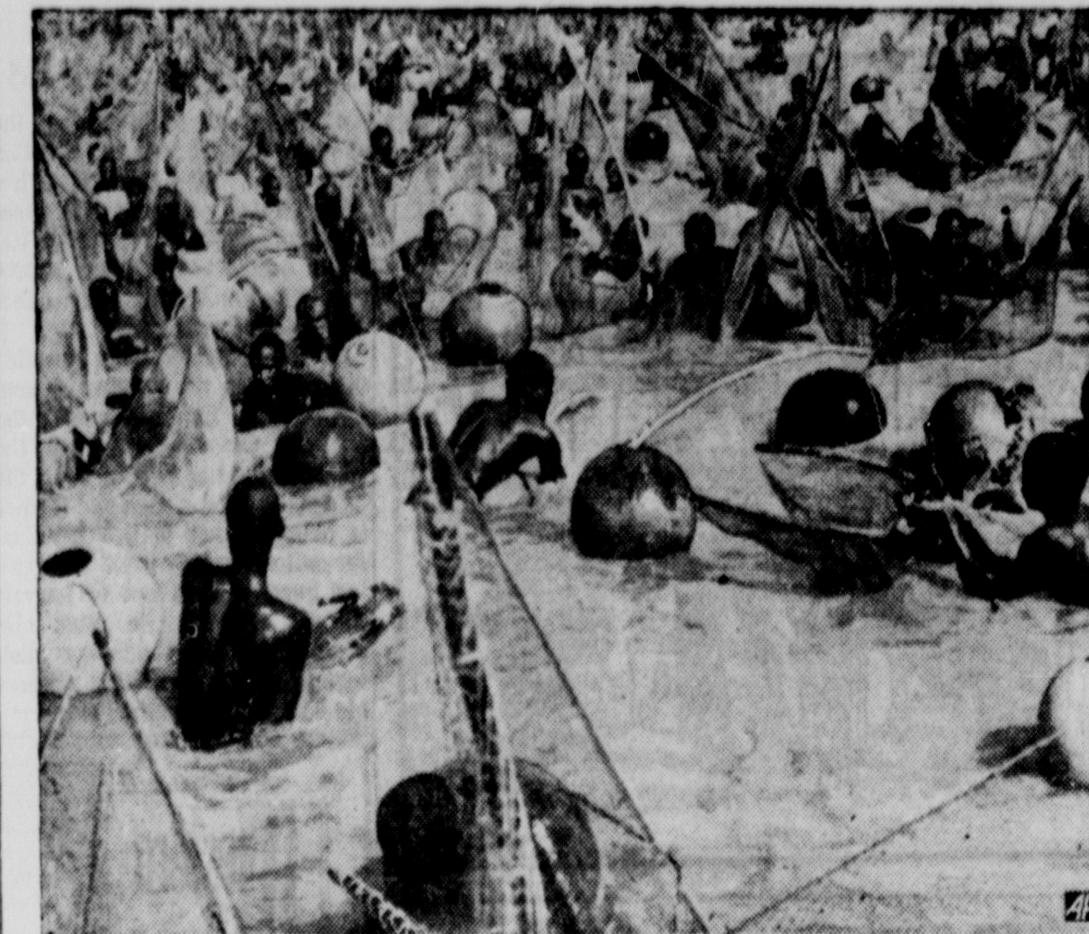

"My hiking outfit," she said. She pointed to her shoes. "I'm anxious to get these off and start walking."

"Barefoot?" asked a newsman. "Oh, no," said Dr. Moore. "I have 13 pairs of walking shoes."

She was indignant there was no one but newsmen and photographers to meet her.

She said the Hotel Corp. of America promised to furnish a truck to accompany her on the transcontinental hike.

"I need the truck to carry my

Turkish Student Presents Speech at Dinner Meeting

Gunhan Danisman, American Field Service Exchange Student, was the speaker at the April dinner meeting of the American Business Women's Association Tuesday night, April 5.

Gunhan, who is from Turkey, talked about the American Field Service, saying that it has a two-fold purpose: to let those from other countries learn about the United States and to let the United States learn about the other countries through the exchange students. He said that he appreciated his stay in Sedalia, and also, that he had been to Denver, Colo., and to New Orleans.

Gunhan went on to say that he felt those trips helped him to know the United States better and he will be able to interpret America to his country.

The people of Turkey, he said, think about and enjoy the same things as the people here, and countries should establish a better world by understanding each other. AFS students try to aid in helping this understanding come to pass.

Schools of this country and Turkey differ, he said. They have American teachers there, teaching English and the American way of life. In the senior year, students take 14 subjects. He stated that the American high school student learns less than a student in Turkey, but a college student learns more in this country than a student in a Turkish college.

He stated that he had three brothers in Turkey, and an American "brother," David Edwards, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Edwards, in whose home he is staying while here.

Gunhan thinks that being a housewife is as honorable a calling as any profession. Homes, clothing and ways of life have changed greatly in Turkey. Their aim is to raise the standards of life for their people.

Gunhan stated he had enjoyed his year here and his family relations with his American family. Now, he hopes to return home and tell his people about the AFS program and his year here in the United States.

At the close of his talk he said he hoped to become an architect. He played several numbers on the piano: "Spring," folk music and the Turkish national anthem.

The attendance contest for the past three months was won by the group of which Miss Myrtle Lewis is captain.

The benediction was given by Mrs. Vivian Vannatta.

Clever "welcome" signs were at each plate, and a basket of spring flowers centered the speaker's table. Yellow candles in silver holders were on the table also and on the other tables which had the association's flower, carnations and the ABWA shield.

Samuel Adams, "Father of the American Revolution," was a brewer as was his father before him.

One-Third Cup Of Butter Lost From Recipe

Somehow a third of a cup of butter got lost in the printing of the recipe of the Sunshine Island cake, which won second place for Mrs. Bob Younger, Fort Meyers, Fla., former Sedalian, in the All-Florida Orange Dessert Contest at Winter Haven, Fla., recently.

The butter missing from the recipe was noticed by Mrs. Younger's mother, Mrs. L. T. Maxwell, 1120 East 11th, who reported it to the Democrat-Capital because she was afraid people would try the recipe and have a failure.

A reprint of the recipe follows:

SUNSHINE ISLAND
1-3 cup butter
1-3 cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs
2¼ cups sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
½ cup orange juice
1½ teaspoon grated orange rind
1 cup coconut flakes

Cream together butter, shortening and sugar until fluffy. Beat in thoroughly the eggs. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt. Stir in alternating with milk and orange juice. Add coconut, rind. Bake in 9-inch pans greased and floured for 25 to 30 minutes in 350 degree oven. Put cooled layers together with clear orange filling. Frost top and sides with orange mountain icing. Decorate with fresh orange sections (membrane removed) nestled in coconut.

Clear Orange Filling

1 cup sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
Mix together in saucepan and bring to rolling boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Cool.

Orange Mountain Icing

2 egg whites
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ cup orange juice
Dash of salt
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
Combine all ingredients in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water stirring occasionally for about two minutes. Then with mixer, on high speed, beat until mixture holds its shape.

Chou En-lai On 3 Nation Asian Tour

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai set out today on a three-nation South Asian tour designed to mend fences damaged by Red China's actions in Tibet and border disputes with her neighbors.

The 64-year-old Communist premier will need all of his suave charm on his visits to Burma, India and Nepal.

Communist suppression of the uprising in Tibet shocked many Asians who formerly were apologists for the Peiping regime. Movement of Chinese troops into territory India considered her own infuriated the Indians. News that the Chinese now are claiming Mt. Everest upset the Nepalese, who take great pride that their little kingdom is the home of the world's highest mountain.

High point of the tour will be talks next week in New Delhi between Chou and Indian Prime Minister Nehru on their dispute over 51,000 square miles of Himalayan territory between India and Tibet.

Nehru already has put a damper on the meeting by expressing doubt that it would lead to any immediate solution of the dispute.

At stake are 36,000 square miles in the Ladakh area of Kashmir. Chinese forces have penetrated into both tracts despite India's contention they have long been Indian territory. In border clashes last year, 12 Indian policemen were killed.

Peiping recently concluded agreements with Burma and Nepal easing their border disputes.

R-1 Extensionettes Hold Regular Meeting

The R-1 Extensionettes met at the home of Mrs. Forest Dornham for its regular meeting April 9.

Mrs. Louis Staples gave a report on the supper and play given at R-1 school. Mrs. Harold Clevenger read the newsletter and announced that the indebtedness on the Campbell-Harris House had been paid in full. She also gave a talk on library week.

The new by-laws were read and approved by the club.

The lesson on food was given by Mrs. Raymond Brandt and Mrs. John R. Colson. Each prepared a dish to be treated by the members.

The next meeting will be May 13 at the home of Mrs. Raymond Ditzfeld. A program on civil defense and Keep America Beautiful will be held.

Shorter Work Week For Springfield Firemen Rejected

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Springfield citizens, in a special election Tuesday, emphatically rejected a shorter work week for city firemen.

The vote was 13,726 to 1,188 against a 56-hour week and a 14 ½ cent tax levy per $100 valuation to hire extra firemen needed under the plan.

The firemen work a 72-hour week.

Absentee ballots will decide the outcome of a proposed charter amendment sponsored by the firemen. The amendment would permit firemen to go directly to the City Council on wage matters rather than through supervisors, the personnel board and the city manager.

The vote was 7,502 against the amendment and 7,441 for it, with 144 absentee ballots to be counted.

Floodwaters Cover Illinois Farm Land

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — Floodwaters of the Mississippi River covered thousands of acres of low-lying farm land above Cairo today. The river neared a crest of 38.5 feet at nearby Cape Girardeau, Mo., where flood stage is 32 feet.

At Cairo, where the Mississippi is joined by the flood swollen Ohio River, the river level Tuesday was about 48 feet, eight feet above flood stage.

Both Cairo and Cape Girardeau are protected by high levees.

Observe 63rd Anniversary At Nursing Home

By Mrs. Denzil Boring
WARSAW — Refreshments were served to patients and visitors at the Warsaw Memorial Nursing Home recently in observance of the sixty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Salley. Mrs. Salley has been a patient at the nursing home since September and her husband, also a well-known Benton Countian and a former judge of the Benton County Court, lives in an apartment at the Salley Villa. In charge of the celebration for their parents were Dr. Guss Salley, Warsaw, and Carl Salley, Rolla.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Shinn, Warsaw, received word that their son, Larry Neil, who is with the U. S. Army, was being shipped overseas. Larry just completed an eight week training course at Ft. Hood, Tex. He left April 5 for an eighteen month assignment in Germany.

The Warsaw Ministerial Alliance is participating in pre-Eastern services. The services start at 8 p. m. each night and the four churches and pastors each have a part one or two nights during the week. As in the past, good crowds are expected to attend. The sunrise service will be held at 6:30 Sunday morning at the Baptist church with Rev. William Jackson, pastor of the Assembly of God Church speaking.

Miss Ary Shough, Mrs. Gus Salley, and Mrs. Edmund Schneider attended the Annual Conference of the WSCS which was held at Grace Methodist Church in Springfield. Also during the conference, Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd McKemey and four youths from the Methodist Church in Warsaw, Jim Smith, Joe Freund, Katie Neff and Diana Kingma attended the Youth Banquet held at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stephen, Kansas City, spent their vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Crabtree and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cobb and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Constance were weekend guests of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kurtz and family, Independence. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bristow spent a weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Walker at Malta Bend.

Mrs. Alvin Groomer, Oswego, Kan., and daughter, Mrs. Sue Lipskach of Trenton, were visitors at the Warsaw Nursing home and with Mrs. Claude Walthall.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond White and children of Berryville, Ark., were recent visitors of his mother, Mrs. John Kincaid and Mr. Kincaid.

Annual Wool Contest Begins This Month

The Make It Yourself With Wool Contest, sponsored by the American Wool Council and the Women's Auxiliary to the National Wool Growers Association opens officially this month.

The Beginners competition, open to 13-year-olds, has been inaugurated this year to encourage younger girls to start sewing with wool, thus prepare for their entrance as Juniors in the 14-17 year-old class next year. The Senior class is open to girls in the 18-22 age bracket.

An Adult class for women 23 years of age or older will be conducted in several of the contest states, of which Missouri is one.

Contest rules stipulate that all garments submitted must be entirely the work of the contestant, and must be fashioned from American loomed wool.

Many Decisions Made
Homemaking An Important Career In Management

As a homemaker you do many things. In fact, most homemakers never get all their work done. There is always something that you would like to do that there isn't enough time for.

For this reason it's important to know which of your jobs contribute most to family welfare. It may surprise you that your mental activity is often of greater value to the family than your physical activity. Of course, both are important and necessary, but good management is becoming more important. Grandmother measured good homemaking by thriftiness and the amount of work she did in the home. Today's homemaker makes her contribution more and more through skillful management. Even grandmother recognized the importance of management when she said, "A wife can throw more out the back door with a spoon than her husband can bring in the front door in a bushel basket."

Your decisions as a homemaker become more important as the amount of money your family spends increases, as your need for up-to-date equipment grows and as your ambitions for the development of your children become greater.

Some of the kinds of things you as a homemaker have to decide are: would it pay to buy automatic equipment or should more hours be put into doing the laundry? Do ready-to-serve foods save enough time to justify their cost? Which of the many qualities, grades and brands of products should I buy? As homemaking decisions increase in number and importance and as the family spends more money, you can't afford to decide things in a haphazard way. Nor can you follow the pattern set by custom and do "the way Mother always did." Things are changing too fast for that. You must decide on the basis of your family situation and on what you have to use and what you consider important.

Your job as a homemaker becomes more challenging when you realize that management decisions make the difference between having more or less of the things your family wants. It is up to you to decide how family resources can be used to get the kind of living your family wants most.

Where can you get help with management problems? There is a recipe for good management. It sets out the steps in the management process and helps you learn the rules for good management. Many groups are studying good management. There also are two Extension Service bulletins on management. One is entitled, "Design Your Family Living Pattern." It deals with problems of money management. The other entitled "Is There A Better Way?" deals with managing other resources. You can get either of these bulletins at your County Extension Office, 605 South Massachusetts, Sedalia.

Civet Cat, Tear Gas Bring Tears

Odors from an unwelcome visitor, and tear gas from guns fired by police to dislodge that visitor, had customers crying at the Jockey Club, 2209 South Limit, Tuesday night: It was a case of an old time saying which came true: "There were tears in their beer."

It seems the unwelcome visitor was either a civet cat, skunk or something, which decided to make a Jockey Club visit. It crawled under the floor and probably didn't like the music from the juke box—so made an attack, dispensing with a terrific odor.

A call was made to the police for help. Assistant Chief Jack Courts went out with the police tear gas gun. He fired one shell from one side of the building under the floor, then went to the opposite side and shot another off—hoping the animal would leave in an opposite direction. However, no one saw the animal make its exit. Anyway, no one was close enough to make sure.

After a few minutes, customers began getting real honest-to-goodness tears in their eyes. Their eyes began to smart. The gas had started seeping up between the flooring and drifting through the building. An endeavor was made to pull the gas out by turning on exhaust fans—it helped some, the customers stuck by their chairs, eyes smarting, tears rolling—and wondering if the unwelcome visitors had escaped the torture.

Matters were made worse when the empty shells were returned to police headquarters. Some gas remained in them and it drifted out and around the desk sergeant who started to have smarting eyes and tears.

South African Police Seize Files of Group Fighting Segregation

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police have seized files of the South African Sport Assn., formed two years ago to fight the color bar in sports.

Documents and correspondence of the association, which claims to represent 50,000 nonwhite sportsmen, were gathered up in raids Tuesday night on homes of its executives in Port Elizabeth.

Among the files were letters from Avery Brundage of Chicago, chairman of the International Olympic Committee, Prime Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand and several British sportsmen.

The association's avowed aim is to win international recognition for South African Negro athletes. Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd, wounded advocate of the apartheid policy for separation of the races, continued his recovery from an assassination attempt.

Lie Confession Brings Demands For an Inquest
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teenage Beverly Aadland's admission she lied about a boyfriend killing himself in her bedroom brought angry demands today for an inquest by relatives of the handsome aspiring actor.

However, police say they are satisfied the Saturday shooting of William Stanciu was accidental after the 17-year-old ex-mistress of the late Errol Flynn revised her story of Stanciu's death and said she was holding his revolver when it accidentally discharged during a nude struggle with him.

She had told police immediately after the shooting that Stanciu shot himself in the head after forcing her into a game of Russian roulette.

Stanciu died in a hospital Sunday—his 21st birthday.

Beverly, a singer in a Hollywood night club, broke down under a lie detector test. However, she stuck to her story that Stanciu forced his way into her apartment, and raped her at gunpoint.

An attorney representing Stanciu's mother and brother said he doubted Beverly's version of the slaying. George W. Drucker said there was no need for Stanciu to break into the apartment as he had been dating the aspiring singer for six weeks and had his own key to her apartment.

The mother, Florence Stanciu, and the brother, actor Kenneth Stanciu, said an inquest should be held.

Bomb Threat Ends Negro Sit-Down

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new maneuver—the anonymous bomb threat—broke up a Negro sit-down demonstration against segregated lunch counters in a Nashville, Tenn. department store.

Police and firemen, acting quickly Tuesday after receiving a telephone tip that a bomb was in the building, cleared customers and sit-downers from McLellan's, a variety store. No bomb was found.

The sit-down touched off scattered racial incidents which resulted in the arrest of two white persons and five Negroes.

Negro college students, for the second consecutive day, took seats at eating facilities at several department, drug and variety store lunch counters. None was served.

At McLellan's, hundreds of Easter shoppers jammed the area as the Negroes sat down. A taunting crowd of white persons forced them to move on but not before white youths grabbed anti-segregation signs and punched a Negro demonstrator. A group of 50 white youths beat a Negro who hurled a drink bottle into the crowd from a second-story window. Policemen dispersed the crowd.

In Little Rock, Ark., Negroes invaded eating facilities at two chain variety stores and two locally owned department stores. There were no disturbances and no arrests.

Negro leaders in Miami threatened boycotts and picket lines unless lunch counters there are integrated by Monday. The mayor asked that the ultimatum be withdrawn.

End Campaign To Hold Hogs Off the Market
CORNING, Iowa (AP)—The National Farmers Organization called off today its campaign to hold hogs off the market.

Oren Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., president of the NFO, said it is planning an enlarged withholding action later.

The NFO started its campaign April 4 by asking farmers to withhold their hogs until top prices reached $19.60 a hundred pounds. Tuesday's top quotations included $17 at East St. Louis, Chicago, and Kansas City and $16.75 at St. Joseph.

NFO first tried a withholding action in October and Staley said the new one was far more successful.

"It proved that farmers are selling on a controlled market," he said, "since receipts fluctuated but prices remained steady."

Staley said the campaign reduced receipts at Kansas City and St. Joseph. He said the Agriculture Department's semi-weekly livestock report for April 4-7 showed the salable supply at Kansas City was 60 per cent of the previous week and 70 per cent of the corresponding period in 1959.

Staley said the market boycott did not work well at Omaha, East St. Louis and Sioux City. He contended there was evidence hogs were hauled long distances to some markets to make it appear there was no reduction in receipts.

Statistics Are Coming In

Winter Is Aiming Delayed Psychological Punches

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Winter is aiming a delayed blow our way—statistics. They cover unemployment, work weeks, industrial production in general and steel and autos in particular, retail trade and housing starts. March was less than kind to all.

The impact of the final winter punch will be largely psychological. We already know that March was bad in many ways and would like to forget it. But the statistics are coming out now—and they could bruise some of the newly found business confidence if you aren't careful.

If the government reports are discouraging, some corporate accountings of business so far this year are a pleasant antidote.

American Telephone & Telegraph earnings for the first quarter of 1960 were higher: International Business Machines profits for the quarter set a record. DuPont reported sales rose, although earnings may have followed prices lower.

The farmer's lot may be turning brighter. The American Farm Bureau Federation thinks so, based on rising prices of some farm products and better control over production of some of them, particularly livestock.

Government officials say the total dollar volume of all goods and services in the nation in the first three months of the year was right around 500 billion dollars, a gain of 40 billion over the final three months of 1959.

The auto industry is taking heart from a spurt in new car sales in the final days of March, coming on top of the registration of more new autos in January and February than in the first two months of any previous year. But these sales have yet to turn auto production upward again. A big inventory in dealers' hands keeps the auto makers operating at a slower pace than the first of the year.

Steel production this week is slipping below 80 per cent of capacity. Religious holidays account for some of the slump. But that doesn't hide the statistics: Steel output sloughed off much sooner than expected and the outlook for the next few weeks is less bright than expected only a short time ago.

Now to look at those depressing figures issuing from Washington. The job picture in March wasn't as bright as it could have been. Employment dropped instead of rising. Bad weather was partly to blame—in many parts of the nation it was no time to be working out of doors. But the loss of steam in the industrial recovery which had been built so high at the start of the year probably contributed even more.

The ranks of the jobless were swelled by 275,000 to climb above the four-million mark once more. Good weather or bad, this stickiest of our economic problems is still to be cleaned up.

Where layoffs weren't taking a toll, in many cases the end of overtime pay and shorter work-weeks were. The resultant loss in take-home pay seems likely to cast a shadow on the personal income statistics yet to be issued. And these figures are always translated into how much consumers have to spend on goods and services.

The employment figures, and the production reports on steel and autos, also seem to forecast another slight drop in total industrial output—although it is expected to stay close to the February one.

Baseball Bets Being Taken In Smoke Shop
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lt. Charles Craft, head of the police gambling squad, and Detective Jimmie Webb decided to pay a visit to an often raided smoke shop in west St. Louis.

Lt. Craft said their decision partially came from the fact that Tuesday was the opening of the baseball season and the shop had often been raided for taking baseball bets.

The officer said as he entered commonly called a bet tab. Kit-one of the shop's operators, writing on a small piece of paper, the door he saw Louis Kitchen, 58, then hastily tore it up and put it into his pocket.

Kitchen was put under arrest. The officers said they found other bet notations on baseball games ranging from $8 to $80.

Mimeographed sheets giving details of Tuesday's baseball games and betting odds were also seized. Police also arrested Victor Padratzke, 41, another operator of the establishment.

Both men have been arrested numerous times on gambling charges.

The officers couldn't figure out at first how any bets could be taken without a telephone—the telephones were removed from the place a year ago on a court order.

Craft said investigation revealed that a telephone had been rigged up to a small light bulb in what appeared to be a table radio. An incoming call would set the light bulb blinking.

Craft said, "then if no policemen were in the shop they would plug in the phone and start talking."

The partners were booked on suspicion of setting up and keeping a common gambling house, of keeping a handbook and of being custodians of bets.

Auto Maker's Grandson Is Kidnaped

PARIS (AP)—Police today hunted a dark-haired man they said darted into a group of children at play and snatched up the grandson of millionaire auto manufacturer Jean-Pierre Peugeot for $100,000 ransom.

The kidnaper dropped a note as he fled, warning "especially do not warn the police. In 48 hours I will give you instructions."

Police said the note also threatened death to the child if the kidnaper's demands were not met.

The parents of the 4½-year-old boy, Eric Peugeot, said a man called them just before midnight demanding the ransom.

The Peugeot auto works is one of France's three largest.

Eric, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Peugeot, was kidnaped from the playground of a country club in suburban St. Cloud Tuesday afternoon.

The child and his brother, Jean-Philippe, 7, had lunched at the club with their grandparents. Then a governess and the family chauffeur took them to the playground.

The kidnaper snapped the lock on a gate and made his way down a path across a garden and into the playground. The two Peugeot boys and a friend were playing in a sandbox. The intruder snatched up Eric and ran off the way he had come.

The child apparently was too startled to cry out. The governess and the chauffeur, sitting in a car at the entrance to the playground, first learned of the kidnapping when Eric's brother ran up and said: "Eric has left with a man."

The kidnaper fled in an automobile.

Inventor Back Home After Track Losses With No Explanation
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Albert Ichelson, 63-year-old inventor who disappeared March 29 after suffering heavy race track losses, returned home Tuesday night in what his attorney called a highly distraught condition.

Tevis Jacobs, the attorney, said Ichelson gave no explanation for his mysterious disappearance and no comment on his reported betting losses at Bay Meadows race track.

Jacobs said Ichelson, who apparently had been flying from city to city by plane, called his wife, Sara, and asked her to pick him up. After she brought him home, Ichelson was placed under the care of a physician.

"The doctor won't let us do a thing," reported Jacobs. "Ichelson is in pretty bad shape."

Hand-Me-Down Furniture Can Be Modernized For Teenagers

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If your teen-ager turns up her nose at hand-me-down furniture for her bedroom, you don't have to resign yourself to a heavy investment in new pieces.

Hand-me-downs can be disguised and modernized. Some brand new bedroom-study furniture is beamed to the teen-age market and priced for very modest budgets.

Her objection to the hand-me-down may be directed more towards its bulky and old-fashioned appearance than to its age. Family antiques often have a quaint and romantic charm and are cherished by a young girl and her mother. The little cane-seated rocker, marble-topped shaving stand or washstands, spool bed or four-poster are lucky finds for any age.

What can be done with the relics of 20 or 25 years ago which have little but size to offer and thus crowd the small bedroom? Well, bed headboards can be divorced from the footboards and brought up-to-date with bed conversion kits which support the mattress and box springs on slim steel rails instead of bulkier wood ones.

Scarred or unattractive headboards can be upholstered or Contemporary furniture, left, introduces romantic charm into a teen-ager's bedroom with canopy headboard on white bed. Pink jewelry boxes and pink vanity mirror frame set off white scuff-proof finish of other pieces. Spacious wall storage unit and desk, right, are designed to appeal to teen-age modern tastes.

So be certain the piece is built well enough to warrant the effort. I have heard, too, that in many communities enterprising shops will strip the old finish for you and let you exercise your talents by putting on a new finish.

For those who are really more interested in something new, something good looking, practical and not expensive, one of this country's largest manufacturers is making what it hopes is the answer. A noteworthy feature of this group I think, is the use of scuff-proof painted finishes and perfume and nail polish-resistant plastic tops.

White with pink or blue accents gives the group a light and lively look. In addition to the regular headboards and dressers is a dreamy canopy bed ready for filmy trills and side curtains to be hung.

Thoughtfully designed, too, is the large, framed vertical mirror with two lift top jewelry boxes attached to the base. This mirror can be wall-hung or supported on a vanity.

As a concession to the bedroom that doubles as a study there are wall-hung shelves, drawers, cabinet units and combination desk-dressers.

As a clue to price, you could get a wall storage unit consisting of five mounting tracks, magazine rack, a double and a single drawer unit, a sliding door cabinet and three open shelves for around $80.

The light, contemporary styling and the light finishes of this group do help prevent furniture from overpowering a small space. But I've known young girls who didn't want truck with any furniture style other than New England colonial in maple or pine. For their comfort, I'll add that the stores should be stuffed with early American in all its phases this spring. And full canopy beds are as thick as mushrooms on the forest floor.

Starting Second Year

Seaway Doesn't Mean Quick Wealth For North America

THE FIRST FREIGHTERS to pass through the St. Lambert Lock at Montreal in 1960 will usher in the second season of operation without the fanfare which apparently "oversold" the Seaway at the grand opening last year.

By AL OSTROW
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
CLEVELAND — (NEA) — The glitter and glamour are gone as the St. Lawrence Seaway is made ready for its second navigation season.

So are most of the happy dreams of quick wealth pouring into the North American heartland on big ocean ships steaming hundreds of miles inland via the billion dollar man-made waterway.

This does not mean that the Seaway is a flop. Much more time must pass and billions of gallons of water must tumble through the giant locks before any accurate estimate of success or failure is possible.

As the sun melts the winter ice of the broad St. Lawrence River, permitting the first freighters to open the 1960 navigation season by nosing into St. Lambert Lock at Montreal, most Great Lakes shipping men and city officials have come to accept Jean-Claude Lessard as an accurate prophet. Lessard is vice president of the Canadian Seaway Authority.

He was one of the key men who drove the mammoth engineering job to completion in record time.

Last year, amid the hubbub and hurrahs of the Seaway's dedication, he warned that the project had been "oversold." He said that every lake city's dream of becoming a great ocean port overnight could not be realized, and that rather than a bonanza, the Seaway's first year might prove costly to many companies and cities.

Lessard was right. Grace Lines, taking a million dollar sock in the pocketbook, will steer clear of the pocketbook, will lane this year. American Export Lines, admitting a $500,000 loss on Great Lakes operations in 1959, is curtailing its service and reducing its ports of call this year.

Foreign flag lines, which have lower operating costs, propose to gradually build up their Seaway operations, but plan to divert some new vessels designed for the inland seas to other areas if last year's St. Lawrence traffic tie-ups are repeated in 1960.

The Canadian Seaway Authority expresses confidence that improvements on the Welland Canal, the 1959 bottleneck, will permit a quicker flow of ship traffic this year.

More than 20 million tons of cargo were carried through the Seaway last year, a 71 per cent increase above the amount which passed through the smaller canal system in 1958.

But, despite hefty increases in the tonnages handled by many ports, the new traffic hardly began to compensate the Great Lakes cities for the more than 100 million dollars invested in new docks and wharves.

"That will come later," is one argument. "These are long range investments."

The cities are gambling on the accuracy of the statement by planning to invest considerably more in new port facilities during 1960 and the years ahead.

Lewis G. Castle, administrator of the American Seaway Development Corp., has not retreated from his prediction that the Seaway will carry 50 million tons of cargo a year by 1968. (The forecast for 1959 was 25 million tons, 20 per cent higher than the actual total.)

Seaway tolls didn't meet the project's operating costs and interest on indebtedness during its first season.

Despite this, both Canadian and American shipping interests are pressing their drive to make the canals toll-free. Their argument is that a booming Great Lakes ship trade would bring both Canada and the United States greater benefits than the Seaway revenues which the neighbor nations share.

Last spring, the 192 miles of Seaway locks and canals were prettied up with bright lights and bunting, ready to salute Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower when they formally dedicated the mammoth waterway. Montreal harbor was jammed with warships waiting to participate in the ceremonies.

This year, the merchantmen have Montreal harbor to themselves.

The St. Lawrence Seaway, no longer a glamour girl, but still possessing some of the globe's most unforgettable scenic splendor, is settling down to its mission as one of the world's work-horse waterways.

CBS Drama
On Mental Illness Set

NEW YORK (AP) — Playhouse 90 viewers will get a 90-minute course on mental illness April 22 with the presentation of "Journey to the Day."

The CBS drama is concerned with the treatment of six patients in a mental hospital, each suffering from a different type of illness. And, because the general public knows so little about the subject, the show will open with an outline, couched in layman's terms, of the problems of each patient.

The actors and actresses who will play the patients have been engaging in psychiatry supplemented by field trips to prepare themselves for their roles.

"I play a hebephrenic—a schizophrenic of the hebephrenic type," explained Janice Rule. "That's one of the rarest forms of mental illness. That's the happy, giggling, charming type whose mood changes suddenly and who winds up trying to kill himself or somebody else."

She said all of her acting colleagues had plunged enthusiastically into research.

"We were all interested—most of the cast had had some little experience with psychiatrists or psychoanalysts. I read books. Then I went out to a state mental hospital and talked over the script with one of the doctors and looked at motion picture films they had taken of schizophrenic patients."

All the research was pretty much wasted in the case of comedienne Elaine May, who withdrew from the cast last week after a difference of opinion about the handling of her role. She was to play a schizophrenic of the catatonic type—so withdrawn she was almost immobile and had only four lines to speak.

One of the classic private eyes, Hercule Poirot, Agatha Christie's little Belgian sleuth, will be the hero of an hour-long filmed show with Jose Ferrer as the star.

If Poirot becomes a hit of Perry Mason proportions, it might open TV doors to some other fascinating, non-violent literary detectives: Lord Peter Wimsey and Nero Wolfe among them.

NBC now is planning to replace its Sunday Showcase dramas next season with a Shirley Temple series of fairy tales and classics—a decision which probably isn't causing new viewers around the offices of rivals CBS and ABC. Originally network programmers were planning to fight the Sunday evening 8-9 battle with a period adventure series called "The Barbarians."

Recommended tonight: Music for a Spring Night, ABC, 7:30-8:30—a program of religious music for Easter and the Passovers; Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10—with Ginger Rogers, Dorothy Collins and the Lennon Sisters as guests; Circle Theatre, CBS, 10-11—"The Numbers Racket," a semi-documentary based on the operations of the policy game.

Soil Fertility Projects
Should Run Three Years

By John Falloon,
UM Extension Soils Specialist

The 4-H Soil Fertility Project is for older members. To realize the full benefits it should be continued for at least three consecutive years. This is to protect you against chances of not getting your fertilizer money back in one year in case of crop failure due to some unexpected cause.

Here is the way the project is set up. You select three or more acres of land for your 4-H project. The crop to grow is then decided. Fertilizer is used according to soil test except on a small check strip where no fertilizer is used. The crop at harvest is divided between you and the land owner on the basis of the yield of the check strip. All the increased yield from the use of the fertilizer goes to you.

This is an illustration of how the crop division works. Let's say you are growing corn on a 50-50 basis. The yield of the check strip is 40 bushels per acre, so the landlord gets 20 bushels per acre. The main part of the field fertilized according to soil test makes 80 bushels per acre. Of this 80 bushels, the landlord gets 20 which leaves you 60. So you as a 4-H member get your normal one-half or 20 bushels plus all the increase of 40 bushels per acre from the fertilized area. This same idea applies whether the crop you grow is wheat, soybeans, cotton, alfalfa, or any other.

Let's continue with the illustration. Say you are growing corn and put on all the fertilizer you need, but because of a drought that year you get little or no increase in yield from the fertilizer. That can happen. If you are on a one-year program you simply are a loser. The next year's crop following the poor corn doesn't need nearly so much fertilizer as if the corn were good. So by farming the land for two years you have a chance to regain some of the loss. This is why the project is set up for more than one year.

The Soil Fertility and Plant Nutrition Council of Missouri is making some awards to 4-H members who do outstanding work in this project. Those who gave blue ribbon demonstrations at their county achievement day get Bolo ties. If these demonstrations survive the district roundups and get to the state contest day, the blue ribbon winners at that event get 4-H jackets. Four medals are given in each county based upon project achievements.

The American Potash Institute also gives awards in connection with the 4-H Soil Fertility project. They give a watch to the first place demonstration winner at the state contest day. They also award a watch to the state achievement winner.

So, take Soil Fertility as your 4-H project if you are eligible. You have a good chance to profit in several different ways. You can make some money growing crops. Some community service goes with the project so you serve your community. There is a chance to win some nice awards. Of course, the greatest honor and award of all is being a 4-H member.

Have You Been Counted?

There is absolutely no reason why every resident of Sedalia and Pettis county should not be enumerated in the current 1960 census; or any county for that matter.

Not only locally, but across the nation, newspapers have been ding-donging the importance of the census. How any citizen could not have read about it and been informed of the minor task they had to do in filling out the forms, passes all understanding. If there are such individuals then they have been careless about their own responsibility in this matter.

Like any door-to-door activity, census enumerators have experienced the usual call-back procedure. But they can't keep up the call backs indefinitely. For that reason every household who has not been enumerated was repeatedly advised to call Mrs. Herbert Seifert, local supervisor at TA 6-7221, or the Chamber of Commerce, TA 6-2222.

In the past there has been a lot of bellyaching by Sedalians about the inaccuracy of the 1950 and 1940 census figures. There shouldn't be when the 1960 results are tabulated. The enumerators have been on the job. Nevertheless there are some elusive situations that would confound any expert enumerator who can't be expected to play hide and seek with some individuals.

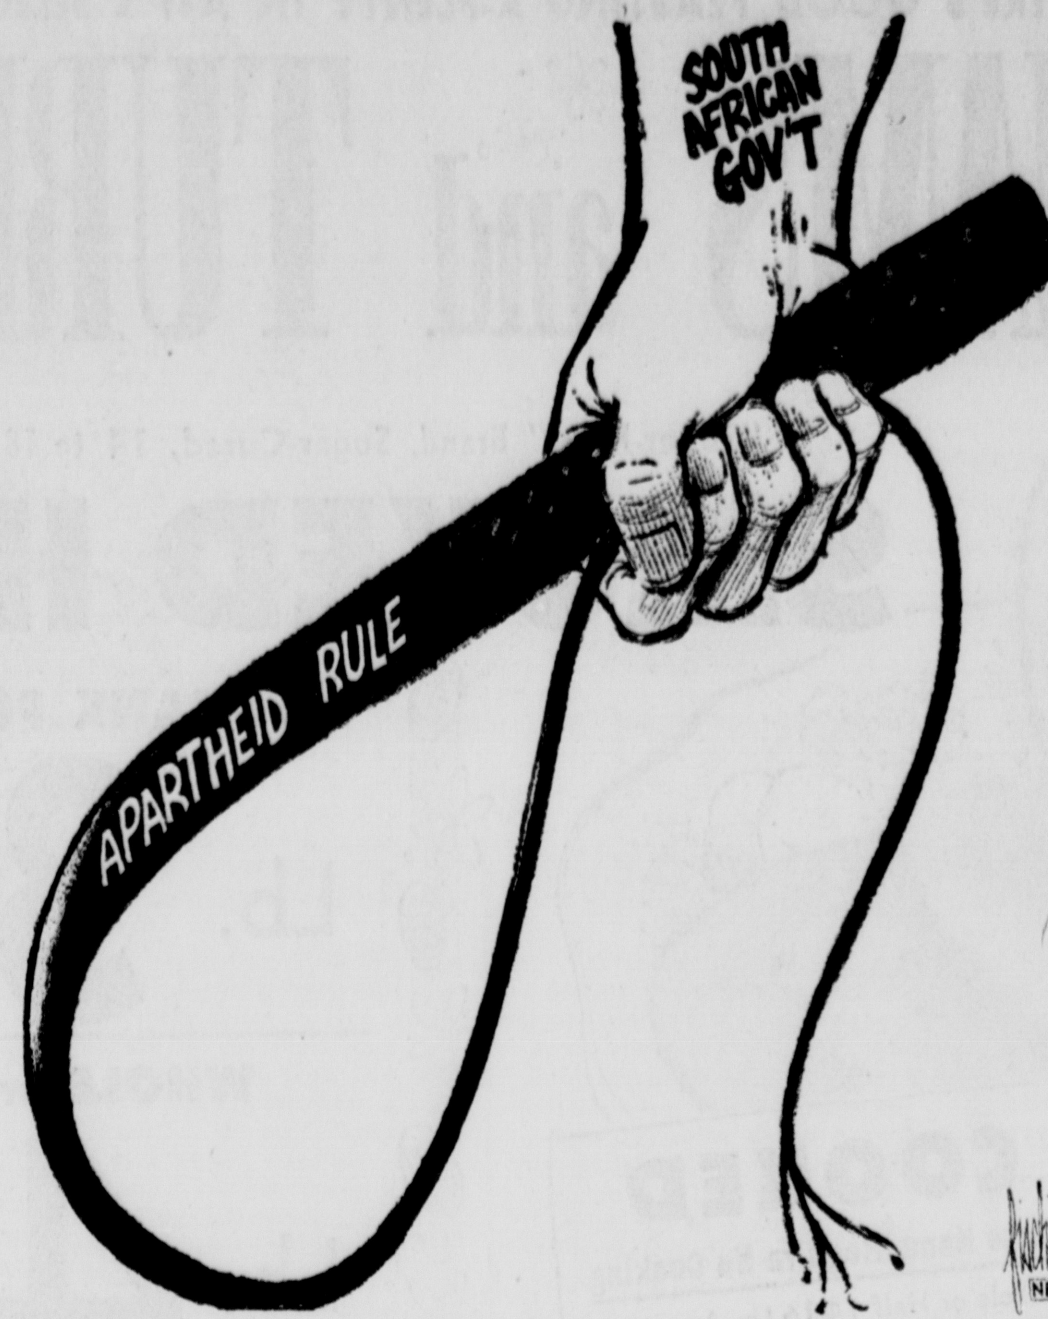

Those who know they have not been contacted and thereby not counted should exert a little effort themselves to help their community get an enumeration as exact as possible.

Just how easy it is to miss an individual, and by the same token how easy it is for an individual to ignore it, when he is not among "those counted," is illustrated by the Sedalia City directories which are published every two years. One man who has lived here all his life was listed until 1950. His name has been omitted in the four other volumes published during the past ten years. But he's still here and actively engaged in work although he has moved his residence from time to time. How can people remain unaccounted for like that in our community for so long a time?

This situation if multiplied too many times gives Sedalia a lower count than is proper in the city directory.

It could happen in the census enumeration, too, unless the individual does his part. He knows by now whether he has been counted or not. Then if not—call TA 6-7221 or TA 6-2222 right away. Don't put it off any longer.

Sedalia wants an accurate count in 1960. It's up to the individual just as much as it is the enumerator to make the final figure correct.

Stevenson---On Call But Not Asking for It

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson hovers around the political perimeter like a doctor in the next room. He is available if needed. He will prescribe if asked, but he won't come uncalled.

He sounded like the Stevenson of 1952 and 1956 Tuesday night in his speech at the University of Virginia. It was a broadside attack on the Republicans.

Stevenson, a two-time presidential loser who seems perfectly willing to try again if he is asked used two figures, Thomas Jefferson and President Eisenhower, to make his points: that Jefferson had vision and Eisenhower does not.

One of the troubles facing Stevenson or any other Democrat running for president this year — when he starts condemning the Eisenhower administration for the lack of performance — is that the Democrats have now had control of Congress since 1954. When blame is being handed out they must be given their share.

If Eisenhower lacked vision or failed to produce or push a program, the Democrats had the numbers to come up with some of their own. But they haven't busted any stitches thinking big, either.

Stevenson can still turn a phrase but to this writer, who wasn't down at Charlottesville, Va., to hear — his written speech sounded tired and pretty much a rehash of what he had said over and over long ago.

If he doesn't get the Democratic nomination this year again he will like all the other also-rans, become a minor figure in American history. Nevertheless, because he had eloquence, scholars will research his speeches.

His ideas and his views about the world and Eisenhower—when historians have the benefit of the hindsight which comes with passing years — can then be measured in perspective against the Eisenhower record or lack of it.

On one point he hit a note which by now is pretty commonly accepted: that this country's foreign policy has been pretty much defensive.

Stevenson insists he is not looking for the nomination this year although he says he won't duck if it's offered. But he couldn't have made a more political speech if he had been on the stump for the third time.

Still, while this speech may have found a hearty response in the cerebral air of the University of Virginia, it's still hardly the kind that enchants the voters.

It was long on criticism and listing of problems but very short on Stevenson's own solutions for solving them. He will have to get around to that if he runs again.

Candidates' Fate Hinges On Enough Women Workers

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Don't worry about the woman's vote, just round up enough women workers and your candidate will win! That's the advice of the No. 1 Republican woman, Mrs. Clare Williams, who brought some 2500 hand-picked women workers to Washington for 4 days of extensive training.

She gave these women, who came from every state, a little bit of everything to talk about as they went back home. Even before they left home they received an invitation to tea with the First Lady at the White House. The engraved card with the gold-embossed official seal, is something for any memory-book. So on the first day of the 8th annual conference found the white-gloved delegates, adorned in Easter bonnets in the Executive Mansion.

By nightfall the ladies had thrown their hats into the campaign, pulled off their gloves, gone to work. They listened to some serious talk on "Security" and "Resources" from such an authority as United Nations Henry Cabot Lodge.

On the second day, they met Presidential candidate, Richard Nixon at a reception, kept informal so as many as possible could talk with him. At least half of the women workers had their pictures taken with the 1960 GOP standard bearer and if that doesn't make them get-out-the-vote for Dick, what will?

Monday briefings on campaign issues and strategy kept the workers busy. Their reward? Some-thing called a Jumbo Jamboree in an almost-convention atmosphere. While eating a box lunch they heard President Eisenhower give an address.

The next day they were given more know-how from the Party Pros, including how to raise more money to finance campaigns. (Mrs. Williams, the assistant chairman of the Republican national committee, didn't let the men forget that the women had already earned a reputation for fund raising at the local level.)

And again and again, the men were also reminded of the women's increasing power — today there are 3 million more potential women voters than men voters.

Importance of Not Being Ashamed of Weaknesses

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

As a small boy her son suffered an attack of polio which left him with a scarcely noticeable limp. His school knows that he can't play rough games but seems to have forgotten it.

Recently, the sports coach came into his 7th grade gym class to recruit new members for the baseball team and declared his opinion that any boy who failed to turn up for tryouts was a "sissy." The boy's mother writes:

"This upset Bobby so much that we demanded an apology from the coach. But getting it hasn't done much good. The child is still very upset."

Perhaps the "upset" is necessary if Bobby is to stop being ashamed of his weakness. Perhaps what he wants from his parents is not protection from other people's demands on him but help with those he makes on himself.

I think that if I were Bobby's mother, I'd now make a point of remembering what happened during his attack by polio. And that when I'd recalled its details, I should say this to him:

"It seems to me that you are much more cruel to yourself than the coach could be. Because he wasn't around when you had polio — and you were. He doesn't know how your body struggled against being sick — and you do.

"He has no idea of what a brave fight your leg put up to keep straight for you so that you can walk as well as you do. Do you remember how grateful we were when we found that it had come through — and you could stand on it?"

"All right, you turn on it now and hate it if you like. But don't expect me to be ashamed of your leg."

And I could hope that my words could make Bobby cry with his own memories of his body's struggle against disease.

Just as we are cruel to people when we do not appreciate their experiences, we can be cruel to our physical handicaps by forgetting our bodies' experiences.

We hate our body for inconveniencing us with a feverish cold though our fever is the heat of its battle to recover health for us. Like Bobby we are impatient with its weakness instead of appreciating its strength.

If he can be helped to remember his leg's loyalty to him during its attack by polio (and he can), he'll stop getting so "upset" when foolish people suggest that its weakness is contemptible. He'll know that they just don't know anything about that leg of his at all.

THE CHURCH, THE CROSS, AND THE PUBLIC CONSCIENCE

BY THE REV. T. DAHLBERG, D.D.
President of National Council of Churches of Christ in U.S.A.
Pastor of the Delmar Baptist Church, St. Louis, Mo.

If the Christian Church is to be true to the good news of God in Jesus Christ it must from time to time speak out boldly on some of the great life-and-death issues of our time.

We make a serious mistake if we think that Jesus confined himself only to such matters as prayer, comfort, peace of mind, and the life everlasting. It is true that these aspects of his message loom large in the content of the four Gospels: Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. We would not have it otherwise.

Who is there that has not stood in need of such words as "Thy sins be forgiven thee," and "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me."?

These are immortal words, to be enshrined in the human heart forever. The religion of Jesus will always be a supremely personal faith.

But it has its public connotations also. The critic who says of churches and preachers, "Why don't you stay out of politics, economics, and international affairs, and stick to the gospel?" has a very limited view of the Christ.

He is repeating the mistake of Adolf Hitler, who said to Pastor Martin Niemöller when the latter protested against Hitler's treatment of the Jews, "You take care of your own business, which is getting people into Heaven, and I will take care of people while they are here on earth."

Dictators always want the average citizen to leave things to the experts, political, military, or otherwise. But Christianity treats with respect the views of the common man.

If we study the New Testament intelligently we shall find that what really sent Jesus to the cross was his outspoken views on public affairs.

Among these were the questions concerning the Jewish-Samaritan segregation issue, the payment of the temple tax, the observance of the Sabbath laws, the limitations on the Roman conscription laws, and the status of the Gentiles in the kingdom of God.

What the Man of Galilee had to say about these issues was what infuriated his opponents, with the result that they delivered him up to Pilate on the charge that he was subversive, plotting the overthrow of Caesar.

His followers followed his brave example. Thus we have in the Jerusalem conference of the early church, as described in the 15th chapter of the Book of Acts, a carefully worded report that was adopted by the church leaders present.

It defined four important issues affecting the life of the church; the sex standards of the new faith, its dietary regulations, and its attitude toward idolatry, as well as towards the admission of Gentiles into the church without observance of the Mosaic law.

Today we are tempted to say, "But those were spiritual matters." True! But they were the hotly debated public issues of that day.

It was because the New Testament Christians gladly risked their name and reputation for the sake of Jesus Christ that we have our heritage of religious liberty today.

God forbid that we should be entangled again in the yoke of bondage, when for freedom did Christ make us free. Christians of the 20th century are called upon to speak in the same bold, ringing tones as did the believers in the first century.

Such questions as world peace, universal disarmament, the ending of the bomb tests, and the equality of all races before God, are the life and death issues of our generation.

The church dare not be simply the echo of the Pentagon, the state department, the Chamber of Commerce, the labor unions, or any other group or institution. It must speak with a voice of its own — a voice that will have in it the authoritative message of the Word of God.

Dr. Harold Cooke Phillips, recently retired pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cleveland, was completely right in saying to a ministers' conference in the state of New York:

"When Jesus told his followers that they were to be the light of the world, he did not mean that they were to be the tail light!"

Sixty-two years ago the first auto insurance policy was issued. The pioneer driver was a cautious doctor. In 1898, his car wasn't very fast but it made up in noise what it lacked in speed. So the driver was insured against possible damage suits brought by irate owners of runaway horses.

GOP Eyes Opponents' TV Ownership

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders don't want the Democrats to know it, but they are quietly checking on five Democratic senators who have investments in TV stations. Their secret strategy is to retaliate against the Democrats in case the latter really go to town with their "Freedom of Information Watchdog Committee" appointed by Sen. Warren Magnuson last fall but never actually implemented.

The five senators the Republicans are checking are: Lyndon Johnson, Tex., Magnuson, Wash., Kerr, Okla., Anderson, N. Mex., and O'Mahoney, Wyo. Except for Kerr, who with his family is quite a group TV owner, and Johnson, whose wife owns parts of four stations, the other senators hold small interests each in one station. All this is a matter of public record. It has never been secret.

However, ever since Magnuson appointed Sens. Ralph Yarborough, Texas, and Gale McGee, Wyoming, on a Watchdog Committee, along with GOP Sen. Hugh Scott, of Philadelphia, the Republicans have been trying to side-track their work.

Though the three men were appointed in September, not a single dollar has been allocated to the committee and not one staff member appointed. Six months have passed and not a single piece of work has been undertaken.

Magnuson's strategy in appointing the Watchdog Committee was first, the fact that Congress last year modified the equal-time provision requiring radio and TV stations to give equal time to all candidates; second, the fact that in election years the big advertisers and Madison Avenue ad agencies have relinquished time in the final weeks of the campaign to their favored candidate. And past records show that Madison Avenue has always leaned heavily toward the Republicans.

In fact, the Democratic National Committee was only able to find one Madison Avenue ad agency in 1956 that would consent to handle its account — even though the work meant a sizable chunk of revenue for the agency accepting the account.

Note — One GOP method of sidetracking the Watchdog Committee probe has been to have it come under Sen. John Pastore, the pleasant, complacent Democrat from Rhode Island. Pastore is already chairman of a subcommittee on television, but has occupied this position for two years with little result. Republicans now argue that it would be an affront to Pastore to have another TV Committee established.

Guest Editorial

JEFFERSON CITY POST-TRIBUNE: Hitting the 'Fix' — Beginning April 1 traffic courts throughout the state will command the respect some of them have not held in the past.

On that date the anti-fix provision of the new Supreme Court rules for practice and procedure in municipal and traffic courts will become effective state-wide.

The new traffic rule in effect will make it a contempt of court charge to try to fix a traffic ticket.

Since ticket fixing will be outlawed under the new rules, observers say judges and law enforcement officers in Missouri will be relieved of political and other pressures.

And another official sums up the value of the new provision this way:

"The anti-fix provision will create a greater respect for traffic courts and a more cooperative attitude on the part of the public toward the entire traffic law enforcement program."

Certainly, the new tighter reins on traffic tickets will be welcomed generally. It's not fool-proof, but it will help.

And so, too, should the other procedures which will bring uniformity to all municipal and traffic courts.

Friends, Romans . . .

A hearing expert said the other day that his tests show Washington, D. C., residents may hear better than most Americans.

In some places, subnormal hearing may affect up to 30 per cent of the people tested. But in Washington this figure runs only about 12 per cent.

We may be able to get at the reason for this if we follow our expert closely. He points out that most people hear better through the left ear than through the right. And he thinks this may be due to the stimulation the left ear gets from constant use in telephoning.

Well, if use stimulates the auditory nerves and makes hearing sharper, then we have our answer.

Where more than in Washington, the home of our walkie-talkie statesmen, do the human ears—both left and right—get more practice?

Hate Campaign Is Waged In Castro's 'Free' Cuba

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

CAMAGUEY, Cuba (AP)—"Tomorrow," says the teacher, "the class will..."

A student interrupts: "Gomez says no school tomorrow."

"Gomez has declared a holiday," shouts another.

Who is Gomez? (the name here is fictitious).

Allegedly he is a student, although he may be years overage for the school. If his assignment is the provinces, likely he has been sent by Havana. He is the local leader of the Student Union, and in effect directs the school. He can tell teacher or principal whether there will be classes on any given day. He can, when and if he chooses, declare a holiday.

If students do not like what the teacher is saying, or do not agree, they shout her down. The student leader usually is in the forefront of this curious activity. Some teachers have stopped fighting—resigned rather than go on under such conditions.

Gomez, or his counterpart anywhere in Cuba, is the representative of ambitious, opportunistic Rolando Cubela, a brown-haired, good-looking former revolutionary army major who resigned the promising job of deputy interior minister to take over the presidency of the Union of University Students. He is Prime Minister Fidel Castro's agent in the important field of direction and propagandizing of students. Many support him, but a large number of students—and teachers—detest him.

Under Cubela, all levels get an indoctrination in hate, principally for the United States. It reaches all the way down to the ranks of children just learning to read. And there is indoctrination in a cult of Fidel.

Children now sing these lines: "Si las cosas de Fidel son Comunistas que me pongan en la vista, pues yo estoy con el." It means: If the things a student sees Fidel doing are Communist, I am with him.

New textbooks, required for primary schools, have been published. These make an undisguised attempt to focus young hatred on the United States.

One such book is "Geography of Cuba," by Antonio Nunez Jimenez, rebel army captain who now, as executive secretary, heads the extremely powerful and often oppressive National Institute of Agrarian Reform.

On page 16, he writes: "In 1898, Cuba was able to gain her independence in the struggle which began Feb. 24, 1895. Then the North American soldiers disembarked at Santiago de Cuba and the United States took over the country, seized the sovereignty won in struggle and sacrifice, and later imposed the Platt Amendment on the newborn republic, meaning the right of intervention."

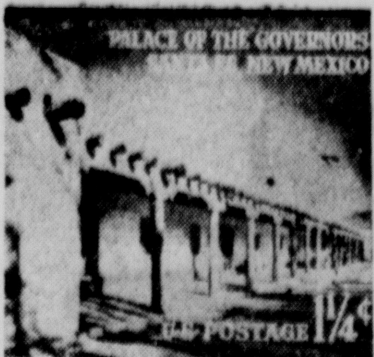

The Platt Amendment was abolished 25 years ago. But Nunez says it really was in effect all the time until January 1959 when Cuba, for the first time, won economic and political liberty. He suggests, echoing the current official line, that the United States itself sank the battleship Maine in 1898 to provide an excuse to declare war on Spain and seize Cuba.

This book tells children the United States plundered Cuba for half a century in a manner typical of colonialism throughout the world; if Cuba is under-developed now, that is the United States' fault. All Cuba's troubles are blamed on Washington and "Yankee imperialism."

History is being rewritten industriously. Writers support their theses by the texts of Jose Marti, Cuba's George Washington, quoting his criticisms but never his appreciations of the United States.

In Camaguey province, a cartoon book is being distributed under the title, "Cuba, a Heroic People." The cover shows an octopus, wearing a dollar sign, its tentacles labeled "traitors" and "monopolies" being cut off by the machete of a heroic-looking revolutionary.

The cartoon story goes back to the discovery of Cuba and the conquest of the Indians by wicked Spaniards, overlooking the obvious fact that today's Cubans are of Spanish—not Indian—descent. It jumps to the Spanish-American

FOR BULK MAIL—The Palace of the Governors in Santa Fe, N.M., is pictured on this 14-cent U.S. stamp. It is considered America's oldest public building, constructed in 1610 and used as seat of government in the state until 1901. The stamp will be used for non-profit organizational bulk mail.

War and depicts the United States as seizing Cuba, saying "The people began to be enslaved again." The face of Fulgencio Batista, the former dictator who has some Negro blood, is pictured unnecessarily dark as he accepts bombs and guns from the United States to battle the Castro revolution.

After glorifying the revolution, it continues with the story, attacking United States press media, listing The Associated Press first. The AP is pictured as one of the claws on a horrifying beast labelled with a dollar sign. Uncle Sam is shown trying to take over Latin America. A Cuban with a machete stands alert, ready to defeat this design.

Another textbook just issued is a second-grade Spanish language reader, an ordinary one until the last four pages. These are devoted to an extravagant glorification of Castro. Teachers are required to read it daily. Unfortunately for the publishers, this panegyric includes among the heroes surrounding Castro the name of Maj. Huber Matos, since sentenced to 30 years as a traitor for opposing Communist influence. Teachers have been told to skip that name.

Schools remain a problem for the Castro government. Rural schools are being built, similar to those constructed under the Batista regime, but teachers for them are scarce. A beginning teacher gets 67 pesos monthly, from which she must pay her own transportation and expenses. New teachers last, often, only three months.

Some areas now have schools for the first time. Some have adult education for the first time, and many a peasant is learning the thrill of writing his name. But the program is slowed for lack of money.

Castro promised to turn military barracks into schools. He has done that in Camaguey and Oriente province, in the rosy flush of the first months of revolutionary victory when Castro was saying there would be no more need of arms and soldiers. Now his army is bigger than Batista's ever was. He is spending enormous sums for arms. But the barracks had been changed into schools. There was only one solution.

Castro built new barracks.

Smith-Cotton Cindermen Place Fourth In Annual Valley Relays

Smith-Cotton thincleds, running for the second time in two days, placed fourth in the annual Missouri Valley Relays at Marshall. The meet, held Tuesday, was won by the cindermen from Raytown who scored 58 1-3 points; Columbia Kewpies placed second with 54 1/2 points; Marshall Owls third with 40 points ending Smith-Cotton by 1-6 of a point, the Tigers scoring 39 5-6; Chillicothe fifth with 16 1-3 points.

Good track conditions prevailed and several records were broken in the afternoon meet. Columbia's

Athletics Open 1960 Home Stand Friday, April 22

The Athletics are going to make their first 1960 appearance in Kansas City on the afternoon of April 22 when the season opens in Municipal Stadium against the Cleveland Indians. And for the first time fans will see members of the coaching staff which is three-fourths new.

Bob Elliott, Walker Cooper, Freddie Fitzsimmons—the manager and two coaches are new to the Athletics. Don Heffner is the only member of the staff with prior service for the Athletics.

As players every man was a member of a championship organization. Elliott played third base and the outfield for the Boston Braves of '48. Cooper was a Cardinal in the winning years of '42, '43, and '44. Fitzsimmons pitched for the Giants of 1933 and 1936 and Brooklyn in '37 when they were champs in the American League.

This foursome has a cumulative record of 56 years of major league play and competed in 4565 games. It is doubtful if any manager and coaching group has a more impressive record of successful baseball play. With the exception of the manager, Bob Elliott, the other three were one position men. Heffner, a second baseman; Cooper was always a catcher, and Fitzsimmons always a pitcher. Elliott as a third baseman was named the Most Valuable Player in the National League in 1947. No other man has ever been named to this honor who played at this spot.

Eddie Lane tossed the discus 146 feet 10 1/2 inches for the first record of the day. Columbia's ace miler, Mathis, picked up where Lane left off and set a new standard of 4:36.1 in the mile run for the second record for the day. Raytown's swift 800 yard relay team set a new record in that event, but this was not allowed because of a disqualifying foul made by one of the Raytown runners.

Columbia's swift mile relay team, authored the third new record of the day when it spun a nifty 3:31.7 in that event. This time represents the fastest time a Missouri High School has been clocked in the mile relay event during the 1960 season.

Smith-Cotton's Gary Holdeman came within a shade of setting a fourth new record in the pole vault when he cleared 11'11" on three occasions, but could not quite get his pole release and pushoff timed correctly. Holdeman and Ridge of Columbia both cleared 11 feet 1 inch and then decided to raise the cross bar to a new record height. The new height was a little to high for Ridge, but Holdeman had no trouble getting sufficient height, but his release timing was off. It was Coach Arnall's contention that Holdeman was somewhat weary because of the tremendous efforts exerted by him in clearing 12 feet 1 1/2 inches at Clinton day before.

Smith-Cotton's cindermen turned in very creditable performances, despite Monday's meet, in the 800 relay when the quartet of Jack Taylor, Bob Vedder, Leon Keller, and Jack Benner turned in a 1:35.8 clocking which is just 2-10ths of a second off the Smith-Cotton school record of 1:35.6 turned in during the 1940 track season.

Smith-Cotton's fast coming half miler, Terry Lynn, turned in his all time best in that event with a time of 2:10.1. Larry Schneider turned in his all time best in the mile with a 4:56.9 clocking. Schneider has several more years to improve on this mark. Smith-Cotton's mile relay team turned in their season's best with a 3:43.3 time. Bob Vedder, Mac Franklin, and Charles Case looked impressive in this event. Sophomore Dale Herrick, running among some fast competition, turned in his all time best 440 yard race with a time of :55.5 seconds.

Ronnie Jones took second in the shot put with a heave of 49 feet 6 inches, and was second in the discus with a 125 foot throw. Jack Benner made 20 feet 4 1/2 inches in the broad jump for second. Benner was in first place until the last jump made by Chillicothe's Turner. Charles Case placed fifth in the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet 5 inches. Leon Keller finished strong in the 220 dash for fourth place with the time of 24.1 seconds. Benner was fifth in the 100-yard dash.

Smith-Cotton placed two boys in each of the high hurdle race and the low hurdle race when Bob Vedder took fourth in the highs and Funnell fifth, and Case took third in the lows and Funnell was fourth. The Tigers managed to place in every event with the exception of the 440 yard dash, that in itself is a good effort considering the high calibre of the competition.

Smith-Cotton goes against the Jefferson City Jay squad on Thursday at the Jenny Jaynes stadium. Jefferson City recently lost to the strong Columbia Kewpies by a scant three points.

Results: Columbia (C), Raytown (R), Marshall (M), Chillicothe (Ch) and Smith-Cotton (SC).

Braves Take Hard Road In Pennant Race

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves elected to do it the hard way—but are off and running in the National League pennant fight.

The Braves, dethroned after two straight championships in a playoff with Los Angeles last fall, called upon their pitching aces Tuesday to edge the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 before an opening day crowd of 39,888.

The old sidekicks, southpaw Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette, and relief artist Don McMahon had to team for the triumph decided by big Joe Adcock's two-run homer in the eighth inning.

"We played heads up ball and that's the way it's going to be all season," said Charlie Dressen after his debut as Milwaukee manager.

Spahn, the ageless veteran who will be 39 on April 23, hurled four-hit shutout ball for seven innings before weakening in the eighth when the Pirates put together a couple of doubles and a single for two runs to bring Mc Mahon from the bullpen.

When Mc Mahon surrendered a run on a pair of doubles and only one out in the ninth, fidgety Lew was summoned. The 33-year-old right-hander promptly got the next two batters on three pitches to preserve the triumph.

Adcock, who drove in the first run in the opening inning with a single and then had a hit in the sixth, picked out the first pitch from reliever Elroy Face and sent it soaring over the right field fence. Hank Aaron had opened the eighth by beating out a topped to third and taking an extra base on a throwing error.

"I was trying to go to right with a man on second," Adcock said. "It was luck. I hit a breaking pitch on the outside. I probably won't hit another out there all year."

Continental League Play Set for '61

NEW YORK (AP)—Branch Rickey was reiterated that the Continental League, despite lack of support from organized baseball, will begin operations in 1961 on schedule.

The 79-year-old head of the would-be major circuit said he was more certain than ever that the Continental League would not only become a reality next year but will surpass the currently constituted majors in four years.

Rickey's optimism was voiced during a special ceremony in City Hall Tuesday when a model of the proposed stadium for the New York entry was unveiled to newsmen.

Among those who gave the stadium his blessings was Mayor Robert F. Wagner who said the Board of Estimate will vote in favor of its construction at a meeting April 27.

"I assure you," he said, "the City of New York is behind this and we are going to see it through to a successful conclusion. There is nothing in the way now for New York to have a second major league team."

Present plans call for a 55,000-seat stadium with movable sections for conversion to accommodate 60,000 for football. A proposed parking lot will accommodate 5,500 automobiles. The stadium also will feature two sections of rotating seats, the absence of pillars and columns or any other obstruction, escalators and continuous lighting.

The city will build the stadium and lease the structure to the baseball franchise owners. The venture, according to the mayor, will not cost the taxpayers a penny. It will be self-liquidating, on the basis of a 30-year bond issue. Rental would be $900,000 a year.

"I have said all along that the Continental League will operate in 1961," said Rickey, "and I feel more strongly about it now than ever before. That despite the fact that baseball has not seen fit to support us, I have not given up that hope—even now."

"I'm not saying all of our cities will have their own parks by 1961, but we will open even if it means we will play somewhere else. Eventually, we all will have our own playing sites. That is no problem, as I see it."

"Neither is player availability a problem. Right now the Continental League has no players but it has almost uncontested access to the free agency field. No one league will have predominance of players at the end of three years."

"What does this mean? It means that during the first two or three years our league would not be able to compete with the two major leagues. But during the fourth year we would not only be in a World Series but we would win it."

Cards Limited By Sam Jones In 3-1 Opener

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The St. Louis Cardinal bats were extremely quiet Tuesday as the National League baseball season opened. Sad Sam Jones, a former teammate, limited the Cards to three hits in San Francisco's 3-1 victory at the Giants new Candlestick Park.

Outfielder Leon Wagner got the Cards' only run on a solo home run in the fifth. Bill White got two singles to account for the other Card hits.

Orlando Cepeda belted a triple and a single to drive in all three Giant runs.

Larry Jackson started for the Cards and was charged with the loss.

The Kansas City Athletics, still on the exhibition circuit in Florida, picked up a 3-0 shutout victory against Baltimore.

Dick Hall, a 6-6 right-hander, became the fourth A's pitcher to go 9 innings as he allowed the Orioles only 4 hits.

Bob Cerv clouted his 5th home run of the spring and also contributed two singles to the A's 11-hit attack.

Hall has worked a total of 28 innings. He has allowed only 19 hits, walked three and boasts an earned run average of 1.61.

The A's were idle today but Manager Bob Elliott plans to hold an intra-squad game.

The Cards will send Wilmer Mizell against the Giants' Mike McCormick this afternoon.

Eddie Scott Named To All State Team

Eddie Scott, star Warsaw High School cager, was named to the All-State Class M basketball team. The six foot, one inch junior was the gunner of a Wildcat team which wound up the season with a 27-6 record. Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Scott, Fairfield.

Adlai Won't Say Yes or No On His Nomination Interest

Editors note: Arthur Edson, a Washington political observer for fifteen years has been traveling with each of the presidential hopefuls. Here he reports on Adlai Stevenson in Virginia.

By ARTHUR EDSON

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson is still playing it coy.

He won't say yes, and he won't say no—at least not so, positively—to this simple question:

Are you or aren't you interested in having the Democrats nominate you for president again this July?

Stevenson has been back in this country for only three days after nine weeks in South America. Already he has held a half dozen press conferences and has been buttonholed by a score of reporters anxious for the story behind the story.

In all these that have come to light he consistently has answered: He doesn't plan to lift a finger to gain the nomination. He neither seeks nor expects to be his party's choice for the third straight time.

Which brings us to his speech Tuesday night at the University of Virginia: He lambasted the Republican administration as enthusiastically as he ever did while running in 1952 and 1956.

As one journalist put it: "If this isn't the speech of a candidate, what is it?"

This reporter has spent two days following Stevenson about the pleasant Virginia countryside where so much of our history was written.

Repeatedly there were variations of this scene: He was leaving Monticello, the magnificent home of Thomas Jefferson, when a woman, tourist called out, "Mr. Stevenson, I want to vote for you."

Stevenson laughed and said: "I'm afraid you're four years too late."

But if he expects no political miracles, he also acts like a man who would like to be ready in case one should come along.

A university gathering isn't usually the forum for throwing political haymakers, but Stevenson got around this cleverly.

The University of Virginia was founded by Jefferson, and Jefferson was, of course, one of our most astute politicians.

Well, Stevenson had Jefferson looking at the present day situation and being upset about the way the Republican administration is running things.

"He would see," Stevenson said of Jefferson, "that our national leadership has not prepared us for the tasks of this searching century. Too often—and I wish I could call Jefferson as a witness—our leadership has been hesitant and half-hearted, and has concealed from us the nature and dimensions of the crisis."

Repeatedly Stevenson stressed that this nation is losing out to the Communists of the Soviet Union and China, and that the Eisenhower administration is responding with slogans rather than action.

"Our leaders tell us in effect," he said, "that if we can just balance the budget and produce more consumer goods, the Soviet challenge will somehow disappear."

"This is dangerous. It is impossible to spend years traveling around the world, as I have, without a disquieting awareness of the thrust and purpose of Soviet society."

Incidentally, in the prepared texts of Stevenson's speeches, given out in advance, he frequently puts in jibes that he edits out when he speaks. Tuesday night he did that repeatedly. The audience didn't hear nearly as tough a speech as the one Stevenson originally wrote.

One Person Is Hurt As Six Cars Pile Up

NAMPA, Idaho (AP)—James Agenbroad, 73, tried to pass another car which was making a left turn.

His car struck the fender of the other vehicle, sideswiped a third car, bounced off a pickup truck, ran through a hedge, over a small irrigation ditch and ran into a parked car shoving it into another one.

"I was afraid if I kept hitting things, I'd get hurt," said Agenbroad.

Only one person was hurt—slightly—in the six-car accident on U.S. Highway 30.

Fire Burns Off 353 Acres Near Joplin

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Incendiary brush fires burned off 353 acres of timber and pasture land in Southwest Missouri Tuesday, district forester Jerry Presley said.

Four blazes covered 300 acres four miles northwest of Washburn and a fifth one took 53 acres five miles west of Goodman.

Wants 6 1/4 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) asked a Senate subcommittee Tuesday to approve 6 1/4 million dollars budgeted by President Eisenhower to continue work on a 130-million-dollar flood control project at St. Louis.

Symington said the Mississippi has risen above flood stage at St. Louis in 30 of the past 100 years. He called St. Louis the only major city on a navigable stream without flood control protection.

Noel Votes No On Bond Issue

NOEL, Mo. (AP)—Residents of this resort town in the southwest corner of Missouri voted down a second time Tuesday the City Council's attempt to float a bond issue for a municipal water system.

The vote was 241-194 against a $185,000 issue of revenue bonds. The turnout of 435 voters reflected the bitterness of the campaign.

Noel's official population is 685.

"We could have beaten it worse than we did," said Forrest Harmon, who owns the private water system serving Noel.

His failure to comply with requirements set by state health officials led to the campaign for a municipal plant.

Harmon said improvements under way will bring his system into compliance and when they are finished he will sell the waterworks to the city for half the amount of the bond issue.

Paul Howarth, a member of the council, indicated it might call for another election.

"We just can't let it drop now," he said. "We have too much at stake."

The second election brought out 34 more voters but proponents of a municipal system were only six votes closer to success. On March 8, the vote on a $165,000 general obligation bond issue was 193-188 in favor but lacked 61 votes of the necessary two-thirds majority.

A switch of 55 votes Tuesday would have produced the four-sevenths majority needed on a revenue bond issue.

Slip of the Tongue Brings an Acquittal In a Murder Trial

EL RENO, Okla. (AP)—County Atty. John V. Whelan used the wrong word Tuesday and Willie Tom Walker, 48, left District Court a free man.

Whelan was addressing the jury with his opening remarks in Walker's murder trial in the fatal beating last Nov. 30 of R. C. Smith, a transient.

He told the jurors, "We don't believe there was design and scheme to kill the man." He conceded he meant to say, "We do believe."

Defense Attorney Hugh Rinehart immediately asked for acquittal on grounds Whelan had contradicted the state's case.

Judge William L. Fogg agreed and directed the jury to acquit Walker.

Animals Eat Bark

Rodent Damage to Trees Intensified by Heavy Snow

By W. R. MARTIN, JR.
Extension Horticulturist

Recent snows which covered Missouri for a month or longer resulted in much damage to fruit trees by rabbits and mice. Both animals eat the bark from the trees. Mouse damage is usually at the soil line or several inches under the soil. The rabbit damage is on the trunks of the trees or even up in the branches since the snow permitted the rabbits to reach well into the branches of small fruit trees.

When the damage results in the trunk of the tree being completely girdled, the tree will die probably within a few weeks or months. If half or more of the trunk is uninjured, the tree will in time heal over. Trees almost entirely girdled may live for several years, be rather stunted, and possibly have one side of the tree die.

Mouse damage is less readily seen but is equally disastrous and frequently much more extensive than realized by casual observation. Mouse damaged trees may live for two or three years, then suddenly become weak and die.

Young fruit trees, one or two or possibly three years old, that are badly girdled by rabbits can be cut off below the damaged area leaving a stub one to three inches above the soil. This stub will usually send up new sprouts, which, if thinned to one strong sprout, will rapidly form a new top that will produce fruit. The sprout of course should come from above the graft to insure the same variety.

Benevolent Society Holds Thursday Meet

Mrs. Roy L. Kay, California, Mo., was hostess Thursday afternoon to 17 members of the Benevolent Society of the First Christian Church and one visitor, Mrs. R. L. Hert.

Each one participated in the program topic "Easter." Miss Laura Meyer conducted a quiz program on Easter.

During the business part of the meeting plans were discussed for the Chicken Pie Supper which will be held at the Church April 20, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Following the meeting the hostess served refreshments.

Tornado Hits Texas; 3 Dead 32 Are Injured

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Three persons died and 32 were injured as a tornado caught most residents of a West Texas village in church and all but swept the place off the map Tuesday night.

But for a woman's warning cry seconds before the twister struck, the toll probably would have been much greater in the crossroads community of Sunnyside, about halfway between Amarillo and Lubbock.

Mrs. C. M. Rogers, wife of Sunnyside's Baptist pastor, spotted the dark and threatening cloud and sounded an alarm.

Nearly 40 men at a meeting in her husband's church scrambled for two storm cellars close by. Most of them made it. Several were too late.

"The men had to put up their arms and hold up the rafters," said Muri Rogers, 10, son of the minister, describing how they kept the roof of one shelter from collapsing on 30-odd persons.

Sunnyside residents emerged to find the farming community shattered. The writhing storm leveled their church, store, grain elevator, cotton gin and four or five homes. A half-dozen other houses lost their roofs.
